TWO KILLED IN COUNTY ACCIDENTS

League Considers Further Penalties Against Italy

PLANS MOVE TO PARALYZE INDUSTRIES

General Staff Meeting is Called for November 25 to Complete Plans

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press)
GENEVA, Nov. 21. — (UP) — League leaders will consider probably within a week a plan to deprive Italy of oil, coal, iron and steel in hope of paralyzing her war industries, it was learned today.

Chairman Jose de Vasconcellos of Portugal, chairman of the league's "general staff" of 48 key nations, has decided to convene a meeting of his committee probably November 25 or 27.

His decision came after consultation led to a belief that the embargo might now be extended to the commodities named.

The plan for the meeting was a surprise. It originally was intended to convene not the general staff committee, but a committee of experts representing 10 nations, to study the measures taken by league members so far in extending penalties already voted against Italy for its war on Ethiopia.

The decision to convene the larger committee, on which all league leaders are represented, was the direct result of three things:

- 1—The effort of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull to restrict trade in key materials to Italy.
 - 2—Germany's restriction of the export of raw materials, a body blow also to Italy.
 - 3—Argentina's decision to add the commodities voluntarily to the list of those already voted.
- The decision also is a sign that league nations believe they have succeeded, beyond their fondest hopes, in getting off to a running start on the first mass effort in world history to penalize a war-making nation by a bloodless attack.

If Italy can be deprived of oil, coal, steel and iron, it is believed that she can not long conduct her war. Not only her war industries but her industry as a whole would be paralyzed.

FOREIGN TRADE IN OCTOBER INCREASED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(UP)—American foreign trade in October was the heaviest since March 1931, the department of commerce reported today.

Despite American warnings against trade with Italy, total American exports in October rose to $221,215,000, the highest since March 1931, when they were $235,899,000.

October imports were $189,240,000, the highest since March, 1931, when they were $210,202,000. October exports were up 12 per cent and imports were 17 per cent larger than in September. The excess of exports over imports was $31,975,000 compared with October 1934.

For the first 10 months of 1935, the export balance was $96,707,000, compared with $95,557,000 in the corresponding period of 1934. Seasonal increase in foreign sales of agricultural products largely accounted for the gain in October exports.

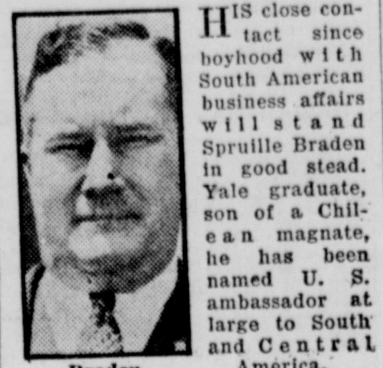

SOUTH MAIN EXTENSION WORK WILL START IN NEAR FUTURE

CONSTRUCTION work on the extension of South Main street to the Coast Highway was expected to start in the near future today, following receipt here of word that President Roosevelt has approved the project, submitted through the Works Progress Administration.

Dan Mulherron, county WPA construction work can be started as soon as the appropriation is made. These appropriations usually come through about eight days after receipt of word of presidential approval of a WPA project. The communication announcing approval by the president advised local officials to begin preparations for starting work on the big project.

Construction of the new road will provide a cut-off from South Main street about seven miles long, coming out just this side of Corona del Mar. The project calls for cleaning out the right-of-way, installing drain structures, reinforcing concrete cattle passes and building a four-mile grade.

G. O. P. CHOOSES CONCLAVE CITY DECEMBER 16

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Signaling the approach of the real fireworks in the 1936 presidential campaign, the Republican National committee today summoned its members to meet here Dec. 16 to choose a convention city and appointed 16 industrialists, bankers and lawyers to direct the drive for funds to fight the New Deal.

Chairman Henry P. Fletcher followed the Republican tradition in making the first move to draft convention plans. The national Democratic organization probably will not act until January.

Headed by William B. Bell, president of the American Cyanamid company, the Republican finance committee was asked by Fletcher to help him raise money to oppose the "alien doctrines and maladministration of the new deal."

The GOP chairman said he did not "expect to raise a sum which can match the billions of the people's money the administration is now using in many flagrant instances for purely political purposes," but that he hoped to obtain enough to "defray the legitimate expenses of a straight-out fight against the new deal."

Political observers, scanning the list of appointments, predicted Fletcher planned a vigorous national campaign.

NATIONAL GRANGE MEET NEARS CLOSE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 21.—(UP)—The sixty-ninth annual convention of the National Grange drew to a close here today with delegates prepared for a final series of business sessions that will be concluded late tonight.

Still unsettled, the Grange's stand on the Agricultural Adjustment Act promised one of the most spirited debates of the session, with delegates split over the issue of continuing the AAA as a means of solving problems facing the American farmer.

Reaffirming the Grange's traditional stand against war, the convention urged that the United States should take up arms only if the country is invaded or after a popular vote of the people. Delegates urged congress to take profits out of war by taking over munitions factories in time of conflict.

LOST U. S. C. FLIER FOUND SAFE, ALIVE

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 21.—(UP)—Frank Kurtz, young Los Angeles flier missing since Tuesday afternoon, was located unhurt at the McPhee ranch, about 30 miles north of here, today.

His plane had been forced down, he said, by high winds within a short time after he took off from the Cheyenne airport at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, en route to Oakland, Calif.

Kurtz' plane was undamaged. He was making preparations to take off later today from the level field where he had landed.

The young flier spent Tuesday night in his small ship and reached the McPhee ranch, about three miles from Lisle station, yesterday.

He spent last night at the McPhee ranch, and returned today with two men to the field where his plane had been forced down.

FOUR KILLED IN RIOTING IN MEXICO

President Cardenas Facing Nation-wide General Strike Today

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 21.—(UP)—The threat of a nation-wide general strike faced President Lazaro Cardenas today while authorities investigated yesterday's clash between the Communist labor front and the anti-Semitic, anti-labor Golden Shirts.

The death toll in fighting in front of the national palace was four. Eight persons were wounded critically and 31 others less seriously. The strike threat was a direct result of the fighting. The National Proletarian Defense committee telephoned Cardenas that unless he ordered dissolution of the Golden Shirts a general strike would be called.

Simultaneously, the Golden Shirts issued a statement they are the true Mexican revolutionaries. Cardenas must solve the grave problem of whether to orient his administration toward the left or the right.

The leader of the Golden Shirts is former Gen. Nicolas Rodriguez, who was for a time a real estate promoter in Los Angeles and served 18 months in Leavenworth prison for violating United States neutrality laws. He participated in a plot to annex Lower California to the United States. He was stabbed in the stomach during yesterday's fray.

The clash occurred in the main plaza in front of the national palace. Proletarian speakers—a man and a girl—were denouncing the "murderers of laborers" before 7000 peasants when the Golden Shirts began a counter demonstration. The two groups quickly were involved in general fighting. When police succeeded in separating them, three dead were on the street. A fourth victim died later in the hospital. It was estimated 300 shots were fired during the fighting.

Among those arrested was David Alfaro Siqueiros, Communist artist who recently engaged in a verbal "duel" with Diego Rivera.

APPEAL DECISION ON UTILITIES ACT

BALTIMORE, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Attorneys for Burco, Inc., today filed an appeal with Federal Judge William Coleman against his decision holding that the public utilities holding company act is unconstitutional.

The appeal petition was made in the case of The American States Public Service Co., a small utilities holding company whose trustees initiated the action in which Coleman's decision was given.

Burco, Inc., entered the case to represent interests of certain investors in the firm. They contended that the utilities act was constitutional and that trustees for the holding company should abide by its provisions.

REGISTER CHANGES HANDS: HOILES' PURCHASE PAPER

R. C. Hoiles and C. H. Hoiles, who have been associated for the past nine months with J. F. Burke and Loyal K. King in the Register Publishing company and the publication of The Register, have purchased the entire interest of Mr. Burke and Mr. King and with tomorrow's issue will take entire charge of the Santa Ana Register.

Mr. King is planning on seeking another field, where he will enter into the publication of a newspaper. Mr. Burke has not determined upon his future plans, though for the immediate present he says he will remain in Santa Ana.

The Messrs. Hoiles are experienced newspaper men, having owned and conducted newspapers in several cities of Ohio, one of which they still own in the city of Bucyrus. For many years, R. C. Hoiles owned and conducted a paper in Lorain, Ohio, and also in the city of Mansfield.

More recently, the Hoiles bought a paper in Clovis, New Mexico, as was announced in yesterday's Register. They have both moved to Santa Ana, disposing of their homes and properties in the East and each of them already has purchased a home in this city, expecting to reside in Santa Ana permanently.

BRUNO'S PLEA THREE DEATHS IS OPPOSED BY IN L. A. JAIL DAVID WILENTZ BEING PROBED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Attorney General David T. Wilentz of New Jersey filed a brief with the supreme court today opposing the plea of Bruno Richard Hauptmann that the tribunal sentence on charges of kidnapping and slaying the infant son of Charles Augustus Lindbergh.

Filing of the brief today would permit the tribunal to act on the petition Monday but attaches of the court were of the opinion that it would not be submitted until the court recesses Monday.

This would permit action on Dec. 1.

Personal Statement

This is the final day on which I will have editorial direction of The Register.

Eight years and a quarter ago, I came to Santa Ana, having purchased The Register from its former owners, and assumed the direction of the paper. I stated then and have maintained since, the purpose of publishing a complete newspaper, with all the news obtainable, and of interpreting the facts in the interest of the people themselves.

I have adhered to this purpose in good conscience and to the best of my ability in these eight years. I have done so in the face of great odds and many difficulties of misrepresentation, of misunderstanding and even against my personal interest at times. The severity of the task that I undertook was greater by far than I anticipated.

The reasons are unnecessary to discuss. It has been difficult to point out certain things because of personal regard for men who were entirely in harmony, if not creating the conditions which, in the interest of the public, I felt must be changed.

I have found some of the finest friendships, the loyalest people, the truest souls that I have ever been my privilege to meet. I have appreciated the loyalty and the co-operation of the large numbers who felt that the paper and its publisher were their friends, because of the paper's treatment of their causes.

But I also appreciate the friendship and the unswerving loyalty, maybe even more, of those who were out of agreement on my economic and social views, but who still showed fine regard for me personally.

I have had the truest and most loyal group of associates, in every department of the paper, a man ever had.

I would not be doing justice to myself if I did not state that the compulsion, at times, in order to be true to my convictions, to take positions out of harmony with those even who were my best friends and upon whom I leaned in every way, has rendered the necessities at times unhappy.

But in the main course, I can say in good conscience, "I have fought a good fight and have kept the faith."

I shall retain the same interest in public affairs which I have always taken. I shall give expression, as opportunity is afforded, to the convictions which I may have upon these public matters. I shall participate, with others, as far as I can in building up all the good things in the community.

May I express my gratitude for the high degree of support given the paper in the circulation, in the advertising and through personal and friendly criticism.

I have known the gentlemen who are taking over my interest for quite a number of years. I know them as men of character and integrity. They are experienced newspaper men. They will cover the field in a comprehensive and thorough manner and I am sure that it will be their constant aim to conduct a paper fair to all people, to print the news in a thorough and complete form, to give every man an opportunity to completely express his views, however much they may differ from those of the publisher.

I commend them to the consideration of the readers of The Register and my personal friends and bespeak for them that loyalty and support which a publication, which is carrying on in the interest of the people, deserves.

VOLUME FOR MONTH HITS HIGH MARK

October Third Consecutive Month in Which Sales Establish Record

CALIFORNIA Valencia sales in October, as reflected in the California Fruit Growers Exchange packed box records, were the largest ever attained for that month, according to news received today from the exchange.

This makes three consecutive months in which sales volume has reached a new high-water mark, and that, too, following three consecutive months that were the second highest, it was reported.

Although the per-box and per-dozen price to the consumer was lower than in most years with the exception of 1932 and 1933, exchange Valencia sales alone in October returned to Sunkist growers more than $4,500,000 f. o. b. California.

The large volume at reasonable prices made possible a particularly wide distribution throughout the Valencia season. During the 27 weeks since the active start of the season, Sunkist growers have sold an average of over 1,000 cars of packed oranges weekly in continental United States and Canadian markets. This has been the largest and most regular flow of California oranges ever moved over the entire season of a variety.

Competition from Florida oranges was negligible until the latter part of the month, when fruit from that state began to move in volume. Florida shipments for the month as a whole, however, were much less than in many other years.

Heavy frosts in the East, North and Middle West early in the month eliminated the greater part of the deluge of home-grown fruits and produce which in September had flooded markets in the large population areas of the country.

The contents of the national fruit basket were thereafter confined principally to California Valencias, apples, pears and bananas. The practical cessation of local competition was reflected in prompt and larger volume.

During the night of October 22, Southern California was visited by a severe wind which caused considerable damage in several sections, particularly in the heavy producing Valencia districts. Much fruit was blown to the ground and some made worthless on the trees. The amount of fruit left to go has, accordingly, been materially reduced, but the quantity remaining will be sufficient to maintain on the November market a much heavier supply than usual.

The market outlook is for fairly firm values on good stock until the clean-up of Valencias. Prices at the beginning of November are lower than the October opening prices. The consumer has been well pleased with the eating quality of California Valencias throughout the summer, and if the carrying quality of the fruit has not been impaired by the wind, it is not at all unlikely that a stronger demand may develop as the Valencia season draws to a close, despite considerable increased competition from Florida oranges.

ACCOUNTS CHIEF OF STATE IS CLEARED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 21.—(UP)—Investigations of state fiscal affairs started by the Sacramento county grand jury neared an end today after the jury had refused to indict Fred W. Links, state accounts chief, on a charge of misusing state funds.

District Attorney Otis Babcock sought an indictment against Links on the charge he used state funds and credit to make private purchases, later reimbursing the state with personal checks.

The district attorney looked upon the Links charges as a "test case" and said "it would be foolish and a waste of money to bring similar cases before the grand jury if no indictment is returned against Links."

FIRST PACIFIC MAIL FLIGHT STARTS FRIDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Roaring its defiance of time, space and the elements, America's greatest commercial airplane, Pan-American Airways' huge, four-motored China Clipper, will make its last test hop today before embarking on the first scheduled trans-Pacific airmail flight.

The great Martin flying boat will take off at its Alameda airport terminal tomorrow afternoon, bearing a crew of nine men and approximately 2000 pounds of mail—100,000 "first flight" letters—to the Philippine Islands and waypoints.

At Honolulu, first stop of the Clipper's ocean-spanning route, the ship will pick up 14 passengers. The passengers will include two sea scouts, two cooks enroute to Wake Islands, third of the airbase chain, and 10 company employees enroute for duty at Wake and Midway Islands, the first stop west of Honolulu.

The ship's passenger list will be the largest ever to make a trans-Pacific flight when it departs from Honolulu.

Today's test flight was scheduled for around 1 p. m. Two or three blind landings under conditions which would prevail in event of a heavy fog will be included.

While Capt. Edwin C. Musick and his crew of eight men were preparing for the takeoff, San Francisco and other bay region cities were making final plans for a huge celebration of the event.

The San Francisco junior chamber of commerce will honor the crewmen at a luncheon tomorrow. Postmaster General James A. Farley will be the principal speaker. Eighty other state, civic and business leaders will attend. The crew was feted at a banquet last night by the San Francisco Press club.

Immediately following the luncheon, the Clipper's crew and other guests of honor will depart for the Alameda airport aboard a special boat for the take-off.

DECISION ON STATE PRORATE POSTPONED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Decision on a state orange and grapefruit marketing agreement was postponed today until after Dec. 15 following a one-day hearing before William H. Wright, administrator of the Los Angeles office of the state department of agriculture.

After receiving a number of protests to pro-rate proposals under the state agricultural adjustment act, Wright said no decision would be announced until another hearing was held to determine the views of shippers. This hearing was set for Dec. 15.

Coachella and Imperial Valley grapefruit growers led the attack on proposed regulation of intra-state shipments. They asserted that unless Florida, the greatest grapefruit producer, and Texas are bound by a similar agreement, a California pact would be "impractical."

Those who testified against the plan included Dr. Harry W. Forbes and George Ames of Coachella and J. E. Harshman, Emil Steiner and George Maurer, all of Brawley.

LITTLE LAD LOSES LIFE UNDER PONY

Itinerant Killed When Hit By Hit and Run Driver on Fullerton Street

VIOLENT deaths claimed two in Orange county yesterday afternoon and this morning. Bobby Jones, eight-year old El Modena boy, died yesterday afternoon about 5:30, after his pony had rolled on him. William H. Bothwell, 37, address unknown, was instantly killed at about 2:30 o'clock this morning when struck by a hit and run driver while walking just inside the west city limits of Fullerton.

The El Modena boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. (Dick) Jones, died when crushed beneath his horse as he was riding on the Art Hodel ranch near El Modena. He had been riding since he was three years old, when the pony was bought for him, and rode the horse in the Anaheim Armistice Day parade.

The accident occurred as the boy and his riding companion, Rev. Earle P. Cochran, former pastor of the Orange Presbyterian church, now of Highland Park, Los Angeles, crossed a ravine on a burn-over portion of the ranch. The boy's pony became entangled in some barbed wire on the ground, reared back, rolled over into the ravine. The saddle horn crushed the boy's chest.

Rushed to Hospital
Bobby rose to his feet, walked some 25 feet back to where the Rev. Cochran was following, and said "Ouch, I guess I'm hurt." Then he collapsed. Rev. Cochran rushed to the highway, where he stopped a car driven by Joe Almond, of El Modena, who rushed them to St. Joseph's hospital.

The injured boy died just as the hospital was reached. He is survived by his mother and father; a brother, Charles, three; his grandfather, R. W. Jones, El Modena; a grandfather, J. S. May, of Pomona, and his grandmother, Mrs. Flora Hayes, of Brea; three aunts, Mrs. Lorey Roehm and Mrs. Nita Ward, of Brea, and Mrs. Pearl Hastings, of Yorba Linda; an uncle, Jack May, of Los Angeles; five cousins, Edward Ward, Rex Hastings, Richard and Jimmy Roehm, and John May.

Funeral Tomorrow
Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Presbyterian church in Orange, with Dr. R. B. McAulay officiating. Interment will follow in Fairhaven cemetery.

Bothwell's body was found lying on the west side of Highway 101 in Bastanchury hill, just inside of the Fullerton city limits, at 3 o'clock this morning, by Jack Chambers and Erwin Price, Fullerton youths who were returning home from Los Angeles.

Examination revealed the man had been dead for approximately 30 minutes, and evidently had died instantly.

Evidence disclosed the man had been dragged some distance by the death car. A hub cap was found near the body, and with this as a clue Fullerton police have investigated an extensive search for the vehicle.

Bothwell evidently was walking south along the highway when struck.

He was identified by means of a five-year-old seaman's certificate found in his clothing, which gave his birthplace as Detroit, and a picture and thumb-print identifying him.

The information was wired to Detroit police by Fullerton authorities, in an effort to trace the man's family. The body was removed to McAulay and Suters, pending a coroner's inquest.

HARWOOD GETS ENDORSEMENT FOR P. O. JOB

Frank Harwood, Santa Ana realtor, received the unanimous endorsement of the Orange County Democratic Central committee and appointment as Santa Ana postmaster, when the committee met last night to consider applications for the committee's backing.

Only three candidates materialized from the field of those mentioned as applicants for the post recently vacated by T. E. Stephenson, who resigned to become county treasurer.

Harwood and Jules Markel had formal applications on file with the committee, and Mrs. Barbara Brooks, of Costa Mesa, offered the nomination of W. M. Burke, Santa Ana attorney.

All considered Chairman John G. Mitchell was about to rule Burke's candidacy out, because no application had been filed, but R. G. Ramsey, of Anaheim, urged that all candidates be considered. Both Harwood and Markel seconded this motion, which was carried.

On the first ballot, Harwood received 16 votes, Markel 6, and Burke 1, giving Harwood the endorsement.

Markel promptly arose and moved that the endorsement be made unanimous. The committee so voted.

The endorsement of Harwood will be forwarded to Secretary W. G. McAdoo in Washington, it was stated.

Rumors Denied Rumored wholesale resignations from the Democratic County Central committee today appeared to have little or no foundation, as denials were issued by several of those whose names had been linked to the rumors.

Rumors that five members of the committee were about to resign boiled down into the fact that two of the five had actually filed their resignations but later reconsidered and withdrew them; also that there may be one vacancy on the committee shortly, Ernest Muse, of Seal Beach, having removed from the county.

Alex Fletcher, of Olive, and Secretary Dan O'Hanlon, of Fullerton, had filed their resignations but now have withdrawn them, it was learned.

Jules Markel, of Santa Ana, and H. E. W. Barnes, of Anaheim, both named in rumors of resignations, both denied that they had even considered withdrawal from the committee.

Sayings Of Will Rogers

(On July 8, 1929, Will Rogers wrote this comment on Franklin D. Roosevelt.)

You can start now trying to dig up something and in three years you won't have found anything wrong with Franklin D. Roosevelt outside of being a Democrat.

An old gentleman, Mr. Van Brunt, that for sixty-five years has run his factory in Horicon, Wis., and never had one speck of labor trouble, he just gave ninety old-time workers and five widows $3000 apiece.

If everybody was Van Brunt there would be no need for anything, but there is men in business that don't belong in business any more than the government does and that's why the government has to go in.

Boston is one of the greatest consumers of garlic in America. So what you detect when you are speaking to a Harvard Bostonian is not all culture.

At Lompoc, California, is great fields of flowers (thousands of acres) for commercial use. Think of seeing a thousand acres of just flowers. Then out of the same ground they take a kind of sandstone for insulation. Then a big sugar beet factory and the biggest mustard fields in America. Cattle by the thousands.

I said recently Daniel Webster wrote the dictionary. Well, these Harvardites have been calling me up before daylight telling me it was Noah Webster and not Daniel. How was I to know. I never read the book. I never could get interested in the thing.

Well, anyway, the mistake will only be noticed in Boston.

tionwide campaign to enlist leading bankers and industrialists in the ranks of those who feel that the new deal has failed and a Republican should oust President Roosevelt from the White House in 1937.

There is no definite indication where either national convention will be held. Chicago is bidding for both. Kansas City would like one or the other. Atlantic City is a quadrennial bidder. The belief exists that both parties would prefer to meet in the middle west where the real fighting will occur.

In addition to choosing a convention site, the Republican national committee will devote part of its December meeting to plans for the apportionment of delegates and the manner of their selection.

OKAY PROJECT FOR BOWERS MUSEUM

Providing for additional help to do work at the Bowers Memorial Museum at Twentieth and Main street, a Works Progress Administration project has been approved by President Roosevelt, according to word received today by County WPA Manager Dan Mulherry.

The project will be operated under the P. T. and W. W. division of WPA, headed by Fred P. Jayne, and will employ three men and four women. The WPA contribution is $4716 and the local cost is $1918.

FOOTBALL BRIEFS

SEATTLE — Washington has a "vowing" backfield, similar to the Stanford sophomores who agreed in 1932 never to lose to U. S. C. With the exception of Jimmy Cain, suffering from a broken rib, the same combination which cracked Oregon's six-year winning streak last year was ready to go against the Oregon Webfoots Saturday. Byron Haines, Elmer Lutz and Ed Nowogorski, who did solemnly swear they'd wallop Oregon three years straight, were approximately 2 to 1 favorites to maintain their vow again this year. If Cain is unable to take a hand in the proceedings, Fritz Wascowitz, sophomore, is expected to get the call.

With a much lighter crop of central California navel in prospect than a year ago, shippers in that section are not showing the over-anxiety to move their fruit that in some years has resulted in shipments early in the season greater than the demand warranted. Shippers are, very wisely, holding their fruit until maturity is more satisfactory and color is more uniformly good, and it now looks as though the new crop navel will not begin to move until the week ending November 23.

Sizes will run medium to large, as was the case a year ago, and the marketing problem will again center on the larger fruit. Florida oranges at the present time are running heavily 176s to 250s, averaging considerably larger than last year.

CLAIM FAVORITISM TO GOLF IN SOUTH

CHICAGO, Nov. 21. — (UP) — It was getting a little cold in Chicago for the nation's professional golfers today so they decided to finish hurriedly P. G. A. tournament arrangements and leave for Florida and the Orlando Open.

Gene Sarazen had his way in opposing proposed changes in conducting money tournaments. Several pros would have eliminated the qualifying round at the scene of the National P. G. A. meet but withdrew their objections when Sarazen said "the present system is okay."

An argument over allotment of dates for California winter tournaments was postponed after Ted Longworth, Los Angeles, protested against alleged partiality toward southern states. He asked the executive committee to award California the dates between Dec. 12 and Feb. 2 for its tournaments this winter.

The National P. G. A. meet will be held at Pinehurst, N. C., next year but a date has not yet been set.

BRUNO'S PLEA IS OPPOSED BY DAVID WILENTZ

9 when the court returns.

Hauptmann, in attacking his conviction, charged he was not given a fair trial and the proceedings were turned into a "Circus Maximus."

He also charged Judge Trenchard who presided was unfair in his charge and that Wilentz had made unfair and inflammatory remarks in his summation.

The brief asked the court not to review the case because it presented no question of federal rights, because Hauptmann had a fair trial and is now being held in custody "having been convicted in accordance with due process of law."

Categorically the brief said Wilentz' summation was properly based on the evidence in the case, that Hauptmann's cross examination by the fiery Wilentz was proper, that there was no variation in the theory of the crime, that Trenchard's charge was in accordance with the law and the facts and that the jury was properly "sequestered" during the trial.

Rights Respected "It is respectfully submitted that the petitioner has not shown himself to be deprived of any rights guaranteed him under the 14th amendment to the constitution and that he has been convicted and is now in custody in accordance with the due process of law," the plea concluded.

If the court refuses to review the case, an action believed more than likely, the trial court which originally sentenced Hauptmann will re-sentence him. It has no alternative but to re-impose the death penalty.

Following such a procedure his attorneys are expected to appeal to the New Jersey governor for executive clemency and, possibly, to make new appeals through habeas corpus proceedings. Such steps do not ordinarily delay the carrying out of the death penalty.

GRID EXPERTS PICK INDIANS OVER BEARS

BY HENRY SUPER

(United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Two of the nation's seven undefeated, untied football teams will be topped from that division this Saturday, United Press sports writers predict.

California will be whipped by Stanford in the Pacific Coast's "Big Game," the staff thinks, while Dartmouth will lose to unbeaten Princeton.

Texas Christian and Southern Methodists, the Southwestern giants will win and set the stage for their clash next week.

Minnesota will close its second straight all-triumphant campaign by subduing Wisconsin, New York university, the other team with a perfect record, is idle until Thanksgiving, when it closes the season against Fordham.

The selections:

East Princeton-Dartmouth — Princeton will win because it has the more experienced team and has been coming along steadily all season.

Harvard-Yale-Yale has the better attack and will win a close decision.

South Georgia-Auburn-Georgia had tough games on the last two Saturdays; Auburn had easy going and will win.

Georgia Tech-Florida-Georgia Tech has too much power.

Duke-North Carolina State-After beating North Carolina, Duke will take this game and win the Southern Conference title.

Mid-West Minnesota-Wisconsin — Wisconsin will win and set season with another defeat.

Ohio State-Michigan — Ohio State needs to win to tie for the Big Ten title. It will.

Notre Dame-Southern California — This is one spot Notre Dame won't find itself trailing going into the last quarter.

Southwest Southern Methodist-Taylor-S.M.U. won't have any trouble keeping its record clean.

Texas Christian-Rice — T. C. U. will stay undefeated in a tough game.

Pacific Coast California-Stanford Stanford represented the West in the last two Rose Bowl games and wants the bid again. It is playing at home and will "shoot the breeze" to win.

Washington-Oregon — Washington, because it has had two weeks to point for the game.

Also: Idaho over Nevada; Oregon State over Montana; and U.C.L.A. over Loyola.

Committee Undecided On Support

Whether or not the Citizen's Water committee, which supported the water bonds at the first election, will take up the banner for the board of supervisors again in the second campaign was not determined today, but a meeting will be called in the near future to settle the matter.

William H. Spurgeon, chairman of the Citizen's Water committee, said today that no decision has been reached on whether or not the committee will work for the bonds in this second election which follows the first one, defeated on October 4. Members of the committee, he said, desire more information before reaching a decision.

The Citizen's committee is the group that circulated the petitions which were presented to the board of supervisors asking that a second election be called. Tuesday afternoon the supervisors called the election, with the same setup as in the first election, the only difference being that the county is calling the second election, whereas the Orange County Flood Control district called the first election.

The supervisors called the second election, disregarding the suggestion of their own consulting engineers that a $1,650,000 saving could be made in right-of-ways. Supervisor N. E. West cast a lone vote against resubmitting the same program that carries what is considered to be an excessive amount for purchase of rights-of-ways in connection with the construction of a dam at the Prado site in the Santa Ana river.

THREE DEATHS IN L. A. JAIL BEING PROBED

before or after arrest and commission to jail.

Schutte, a vagrant, was arrested last Friday on a drunk charge. He died Saturday morning.

Hood was arrested for boisterous conduct at his home Monday on complaint of neighbors. Police reports said he fell from his cell bunk. He died Tuesday.

King was arrested in the hallway of his rooming house Monday night and police held him in jail until Tuesday night, because he was "too drunk to stand trial." He was taken to court to plead, but died in the anteroom.

A police surgeon said he apparently died of acute alcoholism, but when his body was received at the morgue it was found to be covered with bruises.

An autopsy will probably be held in King's case, it was said.

BROTHER-IN-LAW OF S. A. MAN KILLED

Mason Yould, city editor of The Register, last night was informed of the death of his brother-in-law, Frederic A. Price, in an automobile accident near Banning.

Price, a retired capitalist and international insurance broker, was coming from Chicago to his winter home in Los Angeles, when his chauffeur, Carl Lehman, is believed to have lost control of his car and crossed the highway into the path of a car driven by William Farmer Page, well known Los Angeles sportsman. Price died shortly after the accident in the Banning hospital. His chauffeur is reported to be dying. Page and his wife also are in the hospital at Banning critically hurt.

Mrs. Price, Yould's sister, arrived in Los Angeles last week to prepare their winter home in Bel-Air for the arrival of her husband.

Price was well known in California where he formerly had a branch of his insurance company. Other branches were in Chicago, Pittsburgh, New York, Toronto, Can., and London and Paris.

Mrs. Price will accompany the body of her husband to Chicago tomorrow for burial.

HAWAII HAS EARTHQUAKE

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 21. — (UP)—A sharp earthquake shook residents of Hilo on the "big" island of Hawaii from their beds early today.

The tremor was of short duration but an aroused populace feared it meant a forthcoming eruption of the Kilauea volcano.

The shock was felt at 3:45 a. m. PST.

FIRST PACIFIC MAIL FLIGHT STARTS FRIDAY

of San Francisco will join other postal officials in ceremonies attending loading of the first trans-Pacific mail.

Old stage coaches which hauled mail and miner's gold from Sacramento to Salt Lake City over the Overland Stage route in the early 60's will be on exhibition during the loading.

One of the most unique features of the flight preparations was to take place in the San Francisco post office.

Light rays which left the star Betelgeuse 150 years ago, when the first sailing ship was fighting its way on a five-months journey across the Pacific, were to release the trap which will send a portion of the Clipper's first flight mail into the skies to be stored aboard.

Traveling 185,000 miles a second, the rays will be trapped by a photocell at Mt. Wilson observatory and transported from Los Angeles to San Francisco by Western Union wire. Postmaster McCarthy will direct the "ceremony of the star."

Deadline for mail was 4 p. m. tonight, when all letters must be in the San Francisco post office to have any chance of getting aboard the ship. Yesterday, 85,000 letters had been received.

Officials said 99 per cent of the letters were from stamp-collectors.

Special 25-cent airmail stamps will be placed on sale to the public tomorrow.

A WORD OF COMFORT

All that God asks is that each one shall do his utmost. Cease repining about your lot in life and jealously complaining that others appear to travel in happier and easier path.
Each soul is accountable for the "opportunities" which come his way. Others may have more to account for than you have and their responsibility is greater, but there is no difference in the accomplishment of two men, each of whom has done his best.

MCPHERSON—At her home in McPherson, Nov. 20, 1935, Jennie E. McPherson, aged 55 years. Widow of the late Stephen McPherson, mother of S. V. McPherson and Mrs. Walter L. Viergeg, of Los Angeles. EXPERT URGES STORE WINDOW COLOR HARMONY

A large crowd of interested merchants and salesmen last night heard John Roy Stewart, who is in charge of window trimming and merchandise displaying for a Los Angeles store, discuss the subject "Effective Window Trimming" in the Willard school auditorium last night.

Stewart was the third speaker in the series of retail salesmanship meetings sponsored jointly by the retail division of the chamber of commerce and the evening high school.

Styles in window dressing have changed radically in the past five years, the speaker pointed out, especially in the matter of color, design and effecting of harmony instead of contrast. Colors used are softer and more subdued, he said.

There will be no red in his Christmas windows, the speaker declared, saying he is using only blue and white with a little pale gold and pale silver.

Next week the final meeting will be held in several stores to discuss merchandise display over the counter.

Mothers Helped in Colds-Control by Simple Home Guide

Each year more and more mothers are aiding their families to fewer colds and shorter colds with Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds.

The Plan represents the 30 years' experience of Vicks Chemists and Medical Consultants in studying colds. It tells you just what to do: (1) to help build resistance to colds; (2) to help prevent and ward off colds; (3) to relieve and help shorten the cold that gets by all precautions.

Vicks Plan has been extensively tested in clinics supervised by practicing physicians — and further proved in everyday home use by millions. An opportunity to see what planned defense against colds can do for you and your family is being brought you by your postman. Mothers in Santa Ana are being given complete details of Vicks Plan, and trial packages of its specialized aids to better home control of colds.

If you don't receive your trial package within the next few days, you will find the Plan fully explained in each package of Vicks Vapo-Rub — first aid in preventing many colds — and Vicks Vapo-Rub — the mother's standby in relieving colds.

SERA RELIEF NOW FINANCED BY STATE ONLY

Director Terrence H. Halloran of the Orange county SERA, at the authorization of the county SERA citizen's committee, today addressed a letter to Frank L. McLaughlin, state ERA director, informing him that the entire burden of SERA relief in Orange county now is placed upon the state and that there are no local funds for aiding the relief program.

At a special meeting of the committee this morning, called to discuss the emergency which resulted from the decision of the board of supervisors not to allocate further money from the state unemployment relief bond issue funds to the local SERA, the board of supervisors might have aided the relief program by granting the $15,000 requested from the fund.

Up until this decision of the supervisors, made this week, the local SERA has been conducting its medical and dental program with the aid of funds set aside by the supervisors according to the terms of a resolution passed by the supervisors last year which designated the local SERA committee as the agency to handle the funds. Now the medical and dental program has been halted because of the lack of funds.

The SERA here received a letter from the supervisors which informed the committee that the supervisors planned to use the remaining $25,000 in the bond fund for WPA projects. In addition to this $24,000, there remains $25,000 which the SERA turned back to the supervisors for use on the Anaheim storm drain project, a works project and not a relief project, which has not been started.

It was brought out at the meeting this morning that the board of supervisors has an unbudgeted reserve of $350,000 this year, budgeted to take care of unemployment problems, and members of the committee felt that the county could have spared the $15,000 requested so that the medical and dental program could continue.

Death called Mrs. Jennie E. McPherson of McPherson, last night and she passed away at her home where she had lived for the past 53 years. She was 55 years of age and was the widow of Stephen McPherson, one of the earliest settlers of Orange county.

Funeral services are to be held at the First Presbyterian church in Orange, Saturday at 2 p. m. Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the church, will officiate. Interment will be made in the Santa Ana cemetery.

The history of the McPherson family is closely interwoven with that of the county and at one time the pioneer brothers operated the largest raisin business in the state until the grape blight cut short operations in 1883.

ORGANIST IS HONOR GUEST AT RECEPTION

Those strong bonds of friendship established between Miss Ruth Armstrong and members of the First Presbyterian congregation during the former's dozen and more years of service as organist and choir director of the church, were welded yet more firmly last night when more than 200 members of the congregation joined in a reception tendered Miss Armstrong, recently resigned from her post.

The Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor, had assistance of various committees in arranging the reception, including Mrs. Emily Munro and her committee who decorated the church auditorium with flowers for the entertainment interval. H. P. Filer and Mrs. Emma Prettyman arranged the program and artists were presented by George S. Smith, master of ceremonies.

The Lyric String trio, the Misses Anna May Archer, Audrey and Beatrice Granas, played several numbers; Miss Geraldine Gilver gave readings; Miss Laura Joiner sang soprano solos; Clarence Gustlin played a piano group and Miss Dorothy Mayhew closed the program with pianologues.

Before the group adjourned to the social rooms for refreshments, Frank A. Henderson, city superintendent of schools, acted as spokesman for the congregation in presenting to Miss Armstrong a handsome pair of sterling silver combs.

In the social room where Mrs. E. B. Sprague and Mrs. Milo K. Tedstrom arranged decorations, they gave special attention to the flower-laden, candle-light table where Mrs. H. G. Wilson and Mrs. Tedstrom presided at silver coffee urns, iced cake and other dainties had been planned by Mrs. Roy Johnson and her committee.

EXPECT ACTION TO AID GROWERS

A resolution prepared by avocado growers of the state, asking the formation of a statewide avocado committee to secure advancement in marketing conditions for the industry, is expected to be ratified this afternoon by the State Farm Bureau convention, which closes today at Santa Cruz. It was announced by C. J. Marks, of the Farm Bureau.

Ray F. Frantz, La Habra; Howard H. Gardner, Orange; and Marks were among the small group that initiated the movement at the convention. A resolution asking the removal of reciprocal trade regulations between the United States and Cuba which nullify a 15 cent tariff on avocados, also was expected to be ratified by the state convention this afternoon.

Orange county was well advertised at the convention, Marks said, receiving favorable mention many times during the various sessions for its leadership in project work. Frank Pierce, Santa Ana, led the singing at the convention session, and with Mrs. F. T. Robson was the author of a new song book for the Farm Bureau.

Assemblymen James B. Utt, Santa Ana, and Edward (Ted) Craig, La Jolla, were present at the convention as a part of an interim committee on marketing of agricultural products, headed by Assemblyman John Phillips, Riverside county.

School News

Julia Lathrop

Lathrop surely does appreciate the efforts of those loyal parents who visited our school during Education Week with the prize going to the Seventh grade for having the greatest per cent of parents present in relation to the number of classes, the week ended successfully. Those students who served on the reception committee during National Education Week were as follows:

Clessa Burks, Jessie Willessey, Cecile Cartwright, Bernard Robinson, Gordon Wilde, Jeannette Brown, Betty Hays, Jimmie Shook, Elaine Wilkins, Beverly Echles, Ruth Ames, Peggy Holloway, Nancy Steinberger, Jeanne Lawrence, Gerald Stauffer, Ellen Blankenship, Corydon Burnette, Stanley Jiles, Glenn Titchener, Alice Clare McFarland and June Sewell.

Book Week activities opens on Monday at Julia Lathrop. The Lathrop Branch Library which plays such an important part in the lives of Lathrop students, was beautifully decorated with baskets of autumn flowers. Displays of new books and of posters made by Lathrop students were of great interest to the school. Winners of the poster contest, sponsored by the librarian, were Clessa Burks and Eugene Hamaker. Other posters, receiving honorable mention were entered by Jack Forney, Nora Veal, and Betty McNell.

An interesting display of old children's books contrasted with those of present day children's books claimed a great deal of attention from patrons of the library.

During the home room on Thursday, the Junior Literature club gave an interesting program to guests and relatives of the club members. Burr Shafer, the president of the club presented prizes donated by the librarian, Mrs. Lake and the Junior Literary Club to winners of the poster contest and winners of the book writing contest. The books, Sequoia and Uncle Bill by Will James which were donated to the library by the club were shown at this time. Mr. Ralph Baker, of the Lathrop faculty, spoke to the club members about his interesting experience in interviewing people for magazine articles, and of how he has written these articles. Following Mr. Baker's talk, the one-act play, "The Meeting," was presented with the following cast: Peggy Holloway, director, Rex Smith, Dick Vance, Ruanne Neighbour, Elton Nichols, Don Yoder, Weldon Pagenkopp, Bob Spurrier, Jack Sumner, Nancy Sheinberger and Marjorie Sewell.

The program was completed by book reviews given by Betty Hays and Burr Shafer.

Low 9 Home Room Amateur

An interesting hour was enjoyed by the students of Mrs. Hill's Low 9 Home room. Participants in this program were the following:

David Martin, master of ceremonies. Robert Naill, announcer. Carolyn Wells, tap dance. Clessa Burks, solo, accompanied by Olive Switzer.

Amy Nichols, harmonica solo. Peggy Holloway, poem, "Seen' Things."

June Sewell and Clessa Burks, piano duet. Olive Switzer, piano solo.

Several members of the class also added to the variety of entertainment.

Last week was celebrated throughout the nation as Education Week. The Lathrop Low 9 Discussion group celebrated it fittingly by having a panel discussion. The

State Commander To Visit Legion Meeting Tonight

Dan Emmett, commander of the Department of California, American Legion, will visit Santa Ana post No. 131 at its regular meeting this evening in Veterans hall.

Word that the state commander would be present at the meeting reached here yesterday, it was said. Post officials urged that all Legionnaires make a special effort to attend the meeting tonight, and greet the guest of honor.

College Displays Fine Volumes Of Santa Ana Press

Transfer of books in the display of Santa Ana Junior College Fine Arts Press, from San Diego exposition, where they have attracted such general interest, to Claremont Colleges library, has now been effected, according to Thomas E. Williams, head of the college print shop.

An unusually pleasing setting in the main lobby of Harper hall has been given the volumes, some of which were placed on display a week or so ago, while others had to be placed after the closing of the exposition. The latter group included such rare volumes as "The Sermon on the Mount," and a few others in which the edition has been exhausted.

The books are to remain at Claremont until January when the exposition will reopen in San Diego, and they are to be returned to go on exhibit there.

Police News

George W. Martin, 48, wanted by Los Angeles county authorities for grand theft, was arrested last night at his home at 114 Private street, and turned over to Los Angeles authorities. Martin was being sought for a series of chicken thefts said to have taken place in various parts of Los Angeles county.

Boys and girls gave speeches on their views towards education. There then followed a hilarious 4-act comedy entitled "Grandpappy versus Little Rufus." It was presented by the students to bring out the advantages of an education. It not only accomplished that, but brought out plenty of laughs also. The players were: David Martin, Robert Naill, Patsy Miller, Peggy Holloway, and Jack Price. The play was written and produced by Barbara Fitzgerald and Charlotte Mead. The group was dismissed by Alice Claire McFarland, the presiding officer.

Dolores Revives an Ancient Fad

You'll know at a glance it's Dolores Del Rio! But Hollywood didn't, and was properly amazed when the exotic film star swept into a recent film colony party behind this mask, a replica of those worn by ladies of a medieval royal court. Dolores' stunt now is taking on the proportions of a Hollywood vogue.

DIRECTORS ELECTED BY BREAKFASTERS

Directors of the Santa Ana Breakfast club were elected at the regular weekly meeting of the club this morning in the Main cafeteria.

The new board of directors is composed of Edward Hall, Hunter Leach, Milan Miller, C. F. Skirvin, Joel Ogle, Barney Koster, Harold Mathews, Bill Hunton and Art Cannon.

Election of officers will take place at a special meeting of the board of directors to be held next Monday noon. A new president to succeed Edward Hall, and other officers are to be named.

The speaker at this morning's meeting of the club was Harrison E. White, Orange county Boy Scout executive, who discussed the activities of Scouting in the county. He was introduced by Milan Miller, new Scoutmaster of the Breakfast club mounted Boy Scout troop. It was announced today that because next Thursday is Thanksgiving Day, the Breakfast club will not meet, holding the next meeting of the club the morning of December 5.

MOTORIST ARRESTED FOR DRUNK DRIVING

Daniel G. Moore, 38, of 821 South Van Ness street, was arrested at 10:30 o'clock last night on charges of driving drunk, when he was observed driving in an erratic manner in the 300 block on West Second street.

He was lodged in the county jail, after examination by Dr. P. B. Gillespie had shown him to be intoxicated at the time of his arrest, officers reported.

4th Arrest Made In Arson Case

A fourth man, Refugio Luna, suspected of setting fire to a haystack owned by L. L. Marchant, Santa Ana, on June 8, was arrested last night in Corcoran, Kings county, and returned to the Orange county jail to await trial on arson charges.

Three other prisoners, Mauro Mendoza, John Perez and Chris Federico, all arrested within the past few days, have been held to answer the arson charge in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court.

Ball of $5000 was set for each defendant, which they were unable to raise. Loss from the fire amounted to $400.

If the water between the North American and Asiatic continents were lowered but 200 feet, Alaska and Siberia would be joined together.

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 1 pound of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.
If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, stiffness under the eyes and dizziness.
Ask your druggist for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS—used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

CHAPTER I

A SLENDER GIRL with a charming eager face and rich chestnut hair took her traveling case from a taxi driver and stood holding it until the rattle of the cab died down the quiet street. She thought, looking up at the big, weather-beaten old building in front of her that it looked very weary, almost as though it were ready to give up.

There was nothing familiar about it. Nothing even faintly resembling the house of which she had dreamed since she was a child.

She had asked the cab driver, puzzled, "You're sure this is the Cameron home? Mrs. Willard P. Cameron you know?"

"Yes, miss. I know the place well."

And so Dana Westbrook had climbed out. And now she stood staring up at the old house supported by immense Corinthian columns that had once been white and now were only a dirty gray.

Soberly, she picked up her light case and opened the old iron gate, sagging dejectedly on rusty hinges. And then up the long, brick walk from which many bricks were conspicuously missing.

A moment later she pulled down the ancient bronze bell. A hollow peal, which she knew must be resounding hideously within, greeted her.

The door was opened. Very little at first, as though by a cautious hand. And then wider, permitting the face of an old lady to peep through. She had gray hair, drawn back neatly and blue eyes that held a hint of suspense in them.

IMPETUOUSLY, Dana put down her traveling case. There was a joyous note in her voice: "You're Grandmother Cameron, aren't you?"

"Goodness me, no!" The old lady's voice rose in protest. Then "Why you must be Dana. Come in, my dear. And where is your grandmother? She went to meet you."

"I don't know. You see I hadn't the faintest idea what my grandmother looked like. No one seemed to be looking for me and so I got a cab and came out."

"Yes, of course," said the old lady, her eyes darting anxiously from Dana to the door. "I'm afraid, though your grandmother won't like it. You see in our family we always meet trains. And it is rather a reflection on us that you should come home for the first time in twenty-odd years in a cab."

"For the first time" Dana corrected her, her eyes dancing in amusement.

"Yes, yes. But you are so like your mother—" Suddenly she placed her arms around the young girl, strained her close, and gave her a quick bird-like peck on each cheek. Kisses that were somehow not without warmth.

"You're Aunt Ellen!" Dana exclaimed. "I should have known because you are exactly as my mother described you to me—only"—

"Only older." The shy blue eyes smiled understandingly.

"It doesn't matter if you're sweet," Dana said quickly.

"Thank you, child. There, I hear your grandmother's car."

Dana heard it, too. It was evidently old, just as everything else around here was. The automobile was making a great deal of noise as it came up the drive.

DANA'S heart was suddenly beating much faster. She thought of something her mother had said to her which she had never forgotten. "Most people have been frightened by your grandmother, for she is rather a stern person, Dana. But I was never really frightened until—until the last. Because I knew she loved me very much."

Dana was puzzled over the words "until the last." It was not until she herself was almost grown that she had learned what her mother meant.

It was this knowledge and the realization that she was now about to face the stern old lady that caused the blood to mount swiftly to Dana's face and her heart to beat wildly. In that moment she wished unhappily that she had kept the ocean between herself and this queer old house.

There were hard, firm steps outside. Her aunt rushed to the door.

"Sarah!" began a harsh voice.

"Sarah's busy. Tuesday's wash day you know, Agatha," Aunt Ellen said apologetically. "I opened the door for—Dana—" Her voice broke in excitement.

Dana had risen. She walked courageously toward the new-comer, none of her uncertainty and unhappiness showing in her eyes.

The old lady who had entered the big, gloomy room had almost white hair, aquiline features and dark eyes that burned in a thin face. She stared down at Dana fiercely, terribly.

"I'm very glad you've come," she said, but made no move forward.

"The child has come a long way and is very tired," Aunt Ellen said in a gentle, troubled tone.

"Yes, yes," muttered the old lady. "She must want to go to her room."

GRANDMOTHER CAMERON sank into a chair, heavily, her brooding eyes fixed on a familiar pattern of the rug. She said, without lifting her eyes, "You are welcome here. We hope you will be happy. You must excuse me for not accompanying you to your room, but I, too, am very tired."

"It isn't necessary," Dana said through stiff lips. "If you'll only tell me where to go."

"Ellen, call Sarah."

Her sister flew to pull a long rope that was concealed behind the faded draperies between the hall and living room. She pulled it twice in her agitation.

An old colored woman answered the summons, grumbling as she came; "Yes'm I'm coming, Miss Ellen. Fas' as ever my laigs can ca'y me."

Dana Westbrook stood, holding her traveling case, looking up at the big, weather-beaten old house. There was nothing familiar about it.

She stopped at the sight of Dana. "Fo' de lawd," she whispered, her face gray. "Fo' de lawd!"

"Sarah!" the harsh tones of Grandmother Cameron recalled her. "This is Miss Dana. You have prepared her room?"

"Oh, yes'm." Knotted black hands released the apron corner they had been clutching. Sarah lifted Dana's traveling bag and started up the stair.

The girl followed, conscious of pitying blue eyes and burning dark ones watching her as she went up the wide, walnut stair.

The old colored woman led the way down a long hall on the upper floor. The walk seemed endless. And then, suddenly, a door was flung wide.

Sarah whispered: "Go on in, honey chile. You're the spit image of yore pore young ma who slep' in this room. It ain't never been opened till today since the night she run away with Marse Dana, lovin' him so and misserble married to Marse John. I dunno what cover over yore grandma, 'low-in' it to be open for you. Mebbe she's gettin' soft in her old age."

"Thank you, Sarah," Dana said, a lump in her throat. The door closed. She could hear the old servant shuffling down the hall.

CHAPTER II

DANA was fighting for self-control as she crossed to a deep window and looked down at the scene below. The gray day had turned darker, and now a light rain was falling adding to the dreary appearance of the garden which stretched some distance away until it ran into an old brick wall.

That unkempt area, deep in tangled growth, had once been a lovely garden. It was there Dana's mother had moved as a young and beautiful girl, loved and loving. It was there she had carried the bitterness and hurt as a desperately unhappy young wife after she had married "for security" to please her mother. And it was through the garden gate at the far end that she had fled two years later leaving a tiny baby in this very room.

Dana's father had told her the whole story when she was 16. "I couldn't have you hear from anyone that your mother was not a good woman, Dana, dear," he had said. "She was all that was pure and lovely. We loved each other so very much. We were young, and your mother was desperately unhappy. We felt there was nothing else to do. We were married as soon as John Wallace got the divorce, and a year later you came to bless our lives."

"What became of my sister?" Dana had questioned, then.

HE had answered gently. "Your mother felt the baby would be a comfort to your grandmother, who had closed her home against us. And so your mother lived for 12 years—until she died, Dana—never hearing anything from your little sister at home."

Dana thought now: "My grandmother didn't seem glad to see me. Maybe she is cruel. Maybe this is her revenge."

She shook herself out of the somber mood and looked around her.

The room was beautiful. The rose draperies about the canopied bed were only slightly faded. The furnishings were graceful Colonial pieces of an exquisite satiny wood. Her mother's desk, inlaid in a classical design was in one corner. The rug was thick and luxurious, of a beautiful medallion pattern. A few choice prints and dainty floral pictures were on the wall.

Dana's eyes fell on a miniature on the dressing table and she went over, lifting it and staring down at it with misty eyes. This slender, radiant girl, dressed in the quaint style of another era, was her mother.

"How lovely she was," Dana whispered. Compassion flowed through her. How that stern old woman downstairs must have suffered when her beautiful daughter passed from her life forever.

"But it was wrong to bring me here," Dana thought rebelliously, "if she can't forgive me for being my father's child and looking like my mother."

There was a knock at the door.

"Come in," Dana said, replacing the miniature on the dressing table.

The door opened. A slender girl with enormous, unsmil-

The door opened and a slender girl with enormous, unsmiling eyes came in. "I came to offer the family felicitations," she said.

ing dark eyes came in. She had a dark, curly bob, and she wore a blue and white frock, cut with uncompromising severity.

"She looks all of one piece," Dana thought. "A mighty sober piece."

And then came realization. This was Nancy, her half-sister.

"I came to offer the family felicitations," the dark-haired girl said slowly. "I gathered grandmother let you in for a rather rough time."

"Well," Dana laughed a little shakily, "it was not exactly what you'd call meeting me with a brass band. Won't you sit down?"

The two sat stiffly in chairs, staring at each other.

"Too bad you had to come at all," Nancy said. "This isn't exactly a jolly house to live in. If I'd ever had a chance to live anywhere else—" She stopped, as though realizing she had been too free, too friendly. Her dark eyes, which had held a hint of sympathy before, were suddenly remote.

"There wasn't any other place for me," Dana said. "I had given my father a promise that I'd write my grandmother if anything ever happened to him. When he died three years ago, I was at St. Cecile's. I wrote grandmother, but I did not know until after I was graduated that she had been paying my tuition since then and that she had sent money for me to come here when I was through school."

"She probably put a second mortgage on something to do it," Nancy said bluntly. When Dana flushed unhappily, she added, "Oh, don't mind that. We're so used to them, an extra one couldn't make any difference. Besides, we live in the past—in the grandiose dreams of what used to be. Past glory should satisfy anybody with a drop of Cameron blood in their veins. We mustn't forget that noble Scottish Camerons spilled their blood all over foreign battlefields and our great-grandfather was a dauntless southern leader."

"We mustn't forget," Nancy continued mockingly, "that until 25 years ago Camerons controlled the banks here in this southern city, dominated the county politics, had all the best pews in the churches, made the most money and gambled it away more recklessly than any other family in the whole countryside."

"But this isn't 25 years ago. And I intend to live in the present," Dana said.

"WELL said, noble and brave Scot. We'll see," Nancy smiled cynically. "Maybe you won't break under the iron hand of your grandmother, but I have an idea you'll be a bit bent in the process. Unless you run away as your mother did."

Dana said, her voice trembling: "How can you talk so lightly of my mother—your mother, too?"

"Yes," the other girl answered slowly. "That's what I can't forget, what I can't forgive."

Dana said breathlessly, "What could you know of her problems?"

"It's easy for you, who had her love, to understand," Nancy's lips curved in a scornful smile. "Remember, Dana, I was the one who was left behind."

As Dana did not speak, the other went on lightly: "No hard feelings between us. After all, we're pretty much in the same boat. Both fatherless and motherless. Both penniless, because my father fell in with the family failings and lost all his money too. And your father, from what I have heard of him, never thought it important to make any. So we both start from scratch here!"

She lifted a slim hand in a mock salute, opened the door and closed it behind her.

Dana shivered. Tears streamed down her cheeks. She thought: "Nancy dislikes me. My grandmother really doesn't want me. I shouldn't have come."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

—News Behind The News—

By PAUL MALLON

WALLACE PLAN
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—An unnoted but breathless pause in the breathing spell occurred at 8:40 p. m. last November 14. Agriculture Secretary Wallace spoke at that hour on "matters of greatest national importance."

His words were mild. His ideas were hinted in the form of academic theories. Consequently, only the schooled technicians in and out of his audience at the academy of political science, Columbia university, may have caught the full force of what he appears to have been driving at.

Piecing it together with Mr. Wallace's latest depressing book and his other recent speeches, the economic experts have concluded that Mr. Wallace is groping his way toward a more definite program of new planned economy than the left wing new dealers have been generalizing about heretofore. It may be known, for convenience, as the Wallace plan.

THEORY

The way the economists condense the theory into understandable language is this:

The trouble with industry is that it is protected by unnatural tariffs and monopolies against natural prices. During depressions, industrial prices do not drop appreciably.

The only thing that happens is that production stops, causing unemployment, until manufacturers can again get their desired price.

The AAA tried to protect the farmer against the system by also limiting production and by maintaining an unnaturally high price for his products. But that system is wrong for the farmer as well as for industry.

What should be done is to create a free-flowing system for both. Everyone would then be required to produce continuously. Thus everyone would also buy continuously. Products would be sold for whatever there would be a ceiling beyond which they could not be sold. No tariffs, no monopolies. Just all products, and all consuming.

MEANINGS

Certain foremost economists here have grown dizzy, or dizzier, trying to find out what this would mean in terms of practical application.

Obviously it would require complete reorganization of industry.

The Germans could send in their steel for tri-borough bridges, the steel companies would have to make rolling pins or lace ruffles. Also it might require government supervision beyond that generally discussed heretofore. It would certainly necessitate strong policing by someone. Furthermore, it is hardly probable that a good start could be made toward such a goal on a nationalistic basis, without world cooperation.

The only hint Mr. Wallace gave about starting this ideal world was the suggestion that a council on general welfare be created. He would have this council conduct referenda on economic issues and steer the economic course of national administrations, no matter which political party happened to be in control of the presidency.

(NOTE—Mr. Wallace would retain the Democratic system; also a constitution.)

GUARANTEE

Only one conclusion in all this groping theory can be fully guaranteed. It is that Prof. Tugwell is only the alleron on the left wing now. Mr. Wallace is the strut and fabric.

It would seem to be safe, however, to advise industrialists that they need not hold their breath until Mr. Wallace's plan is worked out.

There may conceivably be a new deal move to take the monopoly words right out of Senator Borah's mouth. Also, the Canadian treaty indicated that some progress is being made toward tariff reduction. But the alacrity displayed at the White House in moving to prevent a repetition of the steel incident was hardly in line with the Wallace theory.

Also, Commerce Secretary Roper is still making "breathing spell" speeches.

FEINT

No one at the White House broke down and howled when Father Coughlin broke with the administration the other Sunday. Official comment was not offered.

but there was some private comment indicating a light-hearted attitude. One austere associate of the president suggested that the famous radio star might have been fishing for a pat on the back. The basic fact seems to be that Washington authorities do not regard Father Coughlin with as much terror as at this time last year. There are reports on the inside that his mail can now be carried in a wheelbarrow instead of the fleet of trucks formerly required.

PLEASANTRY

There seems to have been an inner understanding about Mayor La Guardia's speech at the conference of mayors. He has used his stock phrase, "semi-colon lawyers."

In every speech since the memory of New York newsmen runneth not to the contrary. But the boys here had not heard it before, played it up. They did not realize that, in the next paragraph, Mr. La Guardia always praises Messrs. Hopkins, Ickes and all the names he can remember here.

The answer to Mr. La Guardia's relationship with the new deal apparently is that he sat on the alleron board and got all that was coming for New York City.

NOTE—Mr. La Guardia virtually admitted in his speech that he has no hopes or intentions of re-election.

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

President Roosevelt has ordered his statistical sharks to explode several myths about unemployment past and present—if possible.

The move is based on the theory that inauguration of federal relief changed the public attitude toward the unemployment problem. It is estimated that in pre-Roosevelt days several million people now regarded as officially jobless were objects of private or public charity. Young married couples helped out the old folks. Farmers on the ragged edge lived on neighborhood bounty. Many families had aged or incapacitated relatives whom they fed and bedded with-out asking for help. Under Roosevelt they became Uncle Sam's wards.

The President's aim is to segregate this type of unemployed from those who can't find work because there is no work to do—to separate the "unemployables" from the "unemployed."

His advisors believe the census will reduce the total of jobless from around 10,000,000 to 7,000,000. If it does you will hear a lot about it in the 1936 campaign.

OPENINGS

The dignified members of the Supreme Court can't make faces at official or unofficial detractors. But they do find sly ways of sidetracking New Deal lawyers they don't like.

Under the Hoover administration they asked Attorney General Mitchell not to entrust his legal errands to a certain lady lawyer and she never appeared in the court thereafter. Now it is understood they showed such distinct prejudice toward two Rooseveltian advocates that the latter resigned by request. Only recently they razed a Department of Justice lawyer so fiercely that Justice Brandeis almost left the bench to help him out. Mr. Brandeis always takes the part of the underdog.

There are several important posts in the D. of J. which have been vacant for some time. Numerous candidates have been considered but cast aside. Mr. Roosevelt and his friends say he is beginning to realize that he needs lawyers—not politicians—in this department. But he's finding it hard to get them because the best legal minds are on the other side.

USURY

Commercial banks are still cold-shouldering loan applicants whose business has the slightest element of risk and who cannot put up a full dollar or more collateral for every dollar borrowed. This situation is milder for finance companies—not to be confused with the personal loan sharks Special Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey is tackling in New York but not at all for the small business man.

Their customers are mostly small or medium-sized business concerns which need temporary working capital to meet normal business requirements. Such companies—assuming a good credit rating—used to be able to get accommodation in regular banking channels whenever desired. Now they can't—and they have to turn to these finance companies in order to keep functioning at all.

In order to avoid conflict with the law, the official interest charge on advances made by such companies is held down to 6 per cent. But they tack on enough extra—"credit insurance" etc.—to bring the actual interest cost to around 12 per cent. It may not be usury in a legal sense but the customers think it's an awfully good imitation.

UTILITIES

Some of the biggest figures in the industry still concede that reform of federal regulation is needed to prevent future abuses and express the hope that the current argument will eventually result in more moderate legislation which will accomplish this purpose without putting cleanly financed and managed companies on the spot.

COLD

Railroad specialists estimate that earnings reports for the month of September and October will make the best comparative showings of the year. This is partly because the record for the comparable period of 1934 was so poor. Indications are that from November on both traffic and earnings figures will be less favorable.

They can see no fundamental improvement in the railroad situation. Prospects for such hoped-for developments as consolidations and wage cuts look more remote than ever. So bullish flurries in railroad securities leave them cold.

LEADER

Political sharps credit FDR with a smart move in naming Tammany District Leader John J. Kelly as U. S. Marshal for the southern New York district. Kelly is a staunch opponent of the Tammany old guard when ex-boss John P. Curry represented, and is somewhat less than a bosom pal of the present chief, James J. Dooling. It's known that Dooling had an entirely different candidate in mind for the first juicy federal plum that has fallen in Tammany's lap.

Kelly has quite a personal following and strong backing behind the scenes. Insiders figure he is being groomed by Roosevelt and Farley to replace Dooling—perhaps continues if the present leadership continues its hostile attitude toward the New Deal chief. That might make an enormous difference in the Tiger's attitude in 1936.

Program Held By Woman's Society

COSTA MESA, Nov. 21.—The Woman's Missionary society of the Community church met in the church parsonage Tuesday, with Mrs. W. I. Lowe as hostess. DAYTON, O., Nov. 21.—(UP)—The "invisible trade" was the chief topic of conversation at the second day's session of the minor leagues baseball meeting today.

NORMAN PAUL TO SPEAK OF JESSE OWENS

Interesting stories of Jesse Owens, world sprint champion, based on personal experiences gained from taking part in events with him, will be told by Norman Paul, instructor in men's physical education in the adult education department, Santa Ana city schools, to be broadcast from KREG this evening at 5:30.

Owens is the world title holder of the 220-yard dash, 220 low hurdles, the broad jump and joint holder of the 100-yard dash.

FULLERTON J. C. HUMANA CHOIR TO SING HERE

The Humana Symphony choir, rated by music lovers and critics as one of the finest musical organizations in Southern California, will be heard in a program in the First Methodist church, Sixth and Spurgeon streets, next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, according to announcement today by Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh musical director of the church.

This is an Orange county organization, composed of students of the Fullerton Junior college, under the direction of Benjamin Edwards. Added interest attaches to this appearance of the choir through the fact that Edwards is director of the local Cantando club and scored such an outstanding success in his first appearance in that role this week.

Fullerton college authorities are justly proud of this choir. W. T. Boyce, Dean of the College, says "Launched October 15, 1931, the career of the Humana Symphony has been marked by an impressive growth in numbers, excellency of work, and public favor. Rarely has a cultural activity so completely captured the enthusiasm of those who participate and the admiration of the community. The ascending scale of accomplishment continues to rise, revealing resources in an ordinary group of college young people undreamed of before."

Louis E. Plummer, principal of the college, adds his word of appreciation when he says "The Humana Symphony Choir has rendered a signal service to the college and the community through high quality performance and generosity in service."

The choir has a membership of 68 mixed voices, and includes in its program four to sixteen part singing. They were the winners of two consecutive Southern California Biennial Contests, 1932 and 1933. And in 1934 they were the winners of the Southern California Junior college contest.

John Smallman, of Los Angeles, recognized as one of our finest musical authorities, as well as a choral director of note, speaking of the Fullerton organization says "Its work ranks with the best in the field of a Capella singing. This group, under the able direction of Benjamin Edwards, secures effects of surpassing beauty and maintains the pitch with remarkable fidelity."

Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of the church, extends a hearty invitation to the public to attend the service on Sunday evening and participate in the welcome to this group of young people.

CHURCH GROUP MEETS

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 21.—The Community Methodist church held its quarterly conference meeting this week, the meeting being turned into a birthday surprise affair for the minister, the Rev. Chester Lewis. The congregation presented him with an order for a suit as a birthday gift. Following the supper the district superintendent, the Rev. F. G. H. Stevens, conducted the meeting at which reports of the various departments of the church were given. Reports showed that the church is in good condition financially and that greater interest is being shown in all departments.

MILK PRODUCT FROM BEANS

SINGAPORE—(UP)—The Malay-an Medical department, reporting on experiments with soya bean-milk, states that a compound has been found which is a useful substitute for milk for those unable to afford tinned or natural milk. The compound is made of ground soya beans with sugar, eggs, salt, and calcium.

FALSE TEETH

Can Not Embarrass

Most wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their teeth dropped or slipped at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. Makes false teeth stay in place and feel comfortable. Sweetens breath. Get FASTEETH at McCoy's, Walgreen, or any other good drug store.

In Old New York...

BY GEORGE ROSS

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—From a Columnist's Notebook: That "the show must go on" is a law of the trouper, but I never witnessed such devotion to duty as upon my last visit to Alfred Lunt's and Lynn Fontanne's quarters at the Guild, where they romped through a rough and tumble version of "Taming the Shrew." And there saw the comely Miss Fontanne being wheeled to the stage in an invalid chair and back, by the same means, to her dressing room.

She had fractured a cartilage in her knee before the show opened but refused to delay the premiere. And although in great pain and constant care of a physician, she has never skipped a performance.

Most frolicsome of Broadway's mince idols is William Gaxton who, when I crossed his path on a side street the other afternoon, was bawling out a mounted policeman for blocking the houseboards of his hit, "Anything Goes." Then, he sent for oats from Dinty Moore's next door, for the horse

Change of Menu

From a friend who arrived on the Manhattan with James J. Walker, I learned of Jimmy's reluctance to be photographed, ashboard, unless Betty Compton appeared in the picture. And of how, during the reception ceremonies, he pleaded with the well-wishing party, to please let him slip into New York quietly

In Manhattan restaurants are not easily ruffled by a sudden lapse of business. I dined on sirloin at the Flying Trapeze, a fabulously big chop-house where tight-clad ladies actually did aerial stunts while we faced our vittles. But business was terrible. Twelve hours later, when I strode by again, the place had been changed to Simpson's, Ltd., and was specializing in Yorkshire Pudding . . . and the headwater was sporting a monocle. Otherwise, things are the same but business is booming.

The stunning young lady most besieged by the autograph hounds at recent theatrical openings was Betty Furness of the movies who writes little affectionate messages over her signature in the albums. These autograph snatchers have become Broadway's worst nuisances. When they gang up at a theater entrance, it is well nigh impossible to get in or get out without a struggle.

Underground Entertainment

Your correspondent has sat in on some curious events but none quite as strange as a movie performance in an unfinished tunnel under water. The film was "Transatlantic Tunnel" and it was the fantastic idea of a press agent that the sandhogs building the 38th street Midtown Tunnel between New Jersey and Manhattan under the Hudson river, might have wanted to see it. And so in the darkness of the stone and steel tube, the film about a super-tunnel, was flashed on the walls while sandhogs laid down their picks and shovels. This writer enjoyed the picture and was also glad to come up for air

In prowls around the Bowery, I am ever intrigued by the fact that next door to the diamond auction, where precious stones are knocked down to the highest bidder for any price up to three figures, the place next door is a flophouse (20c for a night's lodging). But for bolder contrast, I don't believe the town can beat Broadway and Prince street where near the big houses of commerce and industry, the wholesale pretzel market is situated right out on the street.

Orientation

Record of a none-too-consistent evening: The inevitable dilemma came up after dark, "Where to dine?" (It is axiomatic that the folks who get around in this town are always at a loss about the choice of an eating place). Your correspondent proposed Lum Fong's, the genial, slanty-eyed Oriental's restaurant

Clean The Acids From Bowels and Stomach; Feel Fine Tomorrow!

Mosby's Tablets Are Helping Thousands by Clearing Away
the Poisonous Bowel and Stomach
Acid That Causes Gas,
Bloating, Headache, Sleepless
Nights and Constipation — Try
Them for One Cent a Day.

Are YOU one of the millions being robbed of rightful health and strength by bowel and stomach acid? Science has learned that poisonous acid daily accumulates in the bowels and stomachs of many modern people. You may be one of them! Therefore, read this announcement.

ALWAYS CONSTIPATED

Victims of this "modern scourge" scarcely know what is wrong with them. They can't digest food properly, swell with gas after meals, spit up hot, strong, acidous liquids, have skin eruptions, coated tongue, thick, bad taste and foul breath, can't sleep right, are head-achy, worn out and — ALWAYS CONSTIPATED. They have all the symptoms of common "bowel and stomach disorder." But, "doctoring" for "bowel and stomach disorder" seldom brings benefit, because ordinary bowel and stomach medicines do not reach the acidous root of this trouble. So these discouraged, forlorn people continue to suffer—wondering why all medicines fail them—why they have to be sick continually—why they can't feel well like normal men and women.

Such suffering people will now find—in MOSBY'S TABLETS—a certain measure of RELIEF! These tablets FIGHT bowel and stomach ACID. And they also contain the finest ingredients known to Science for relief of bowel and stomach trouble!

MELT IN STOMACH

MOSBY'S TABLETS melt in the stomach immediately after taking and the melted tablet substance neutralizes all acid with which it comes in contact. At once there is a feeling of extreme relief in the stomach organs. Within 10 minutes the gas starts leaving you. Shortly, all bloating, swelling and pain is gone. This benefit comes from ONE TABLET. A course of the tablets—three to seven weeks—has a positively amazing effect. Even long-standing stomach disorder often vanishes and people on restricted diet for years find they can EAT ANYTHING.

MOSBY'S TABLETS also are laxative. They contain a combination of bowel-clearing ingredients not often found even in specially prepared Bowel Compounds. They keep the bowels REALLY CLEAN and sub-stance, so terribly foul-smelling that it will drive you in haste from the bath room! Then headaches, skin eruptions, worn-out feeling and sleepless nights—due to acidous bowel congestion—come to a quick end.

COST IS SMALL

These tablets were created—and are being introduced in this city—by Gilbert H. Mosby, acknowledged leader of the Drug Manufacturing World, whose discoveries in the past have benefited more than 20,000,000 people.

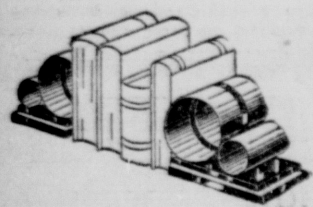

SUFFERERS! Don't go on feeling worn out, headachy, miserable. Get MOSBY'S TABLETS TODAY—and feel fine — TOMORROW! Cost of the tablets is small—little more than one cent a day for the FULL COURSE! Sold in this city at McCoy's Two Drug Stores, 104 E. Fourth and 302 W. Fourth; and by McCoy's Drug Stores in Whittier, Balboa and Huntington Park, and by all good drug-gists.

TOASTMASTERS
HOLD "LADIES' NIGHT" EVENT

Holding their first "Ladies' Night" of the season, members of Smedley Chapter of Toastmasters International entertained their wives and friends last evening at James' cafe with a regular speaking program preceded by a short musical program.

Miss Loraine Bartel sang two solos accompanied by Miss Beatrice Granas, and Messrs Ernest and Glenn Layton played two guitar duets during the dinner hour. Orville Northrup won first place in the speaking contest which is a feature of each meeting, with his talk on "Understanding." Making a plea for a better understanding between parents and their children, Northrup strongly recommended a democratic form of home life and discipline in which each member of the family is accorded authority and importance in accordance with his experience.

Kruger Wins Second
"Soft Soap" was the subject of the talk given by Eugene Kruger, who won second place in the speaking contest. Kruger held the interest of his audience with his entertaining discussion of some of the more sensational advertising which has been published in recent years.

David Cherry, speaking on "Children," told of some of the childhood experiences had by children, particularly during the holiday season.

"Methods of Approach" were discussed by Dr. Perry Davis in a clever talk in which he illustrated some of the principles used in determining the proper approach to any given problem.

Allen W. Goddard, speaking on "The Turn of the Cycle," brought out the striking increase in popularity enjoyed by the bicycle as a means of transportation and as a method of obtaining recreation, during the past few years.

Club President Talks
"The Tale of Two Cities" was the title of the interesting talk given by Arthur Woodworth, president of the club, in which he outlined the early history of the City of San Diego and told of the founding of Old Town and the present townsite and the struggles surrounding their eventual consolidation as one city.

D. H. Tibbals, speaking on "New Horizons," discussed the growth of human relations from the first family and transportation by foot to present day national life accompanied by transportation by airplane and emphasized the need for a sense of brotherhood and unity among the people of all nations.

R. Carson Smith presided as toastmaster of the evening with Ralph C. Smedley, founder of the Toastmasters' International organization, as general critic of the meeting.

To Be Held
At College

Plans for the second annual Santa Ana Junior College Penny Fair which will be held Friday, December 6, sponsored by Los Gauchos men's service club, are now underway. Harris Warren, president of the organization, said today.

"The carnival will be held in the Armory building at 415 West Fourth street," he announced. "All proceeds from the benefit will be used again this year to purchase more furnishings for the men's and women's lounges, located on the jaysse campus."

Penny Fair was inaugurated last year by Calvin C. Flint, dean of men at the junior college who was then adviser of Los Gauchos. Proceeds from last year's festival were used to buy radios for the lounges.

All residents of Santa Ana, as well as students from Orange County high schools are invited to attend Penny Fair. Features of last year's fair expected to be presented again are Kendo-Bu or Japanese fencing, a penny dance, popularity contest, and numerous booths for amusements.

Committees have been appointed by each club to erect the individual booths. General committees of the Gauchos are Kenneth Nissley, and Ray Foster, booths; Harris Warren, location; Louis Clem, Charles McIntyre, Bob Browning, and David Withall, entrance; Fred Pinkston, Asa Hoffman, Matt Brown, Robert Kelly, and David Beall, dance.

NOTED ROMANCE AND COMEDY AT
BROADWAY TODAY

"Peter Ibbetson," Du Maurier's immortal love classic, starring Gary Cooper and Ann Harding in the motion picture version of the famous novel, opens today at the Broadway theater with a second feature, "She Couldn't Take It," a brilliant comedy-romance featuring George Raft and Joan Bennett.

The story of "Peter Ibbetson" is laid against the romantic background of the early Victorian period. The film tells one of the most beautiful love stories ever written, of a love that surmounted every obstacle.

Raft reverts to the gangster type of portrayal in "She Couldn't Take It." The highly amusing incidents which take place after Walter Connolly, playing the part of Miss Bennett's father, turns his estate and fortunes over to Raft to care for, form the basis of the story. James Blakely and Billie Burke have leading roles.

WILL ROGERS THE KIND—

By OLE HANSON

Kindness is the golden chain by which society is bound together; we pass through this life but once, and any kindness that one can show and anything that one can do for another man or woman, should be done, as we shall not pass this way again. The best portion of a man's life is the nameless, little remembered acts of kindness and of love.

Men are not remembered for their wealth. Only one rich man is mentioned in the Holy-writ, and that only because a beggar picked the crumbs that fell from his table; history records the ruthlessness of conquerors, the acts of the victorious generals, the aggrandizement of the cunning, but we read with careless minds their story. Wellington is but a name in print, but the love songs of Thomas Moore will live forever. Napoleon, who almost conquered the civilized world, leaving a trail of blood and massacre, poverty and degradation; Caesar who overran Europe and part of Asia, and all the others who have butchered, cheated and enslaved mankind, have no shrines by the country wayside, or in the people's heart live no love and affection.

"When Jesus said, 'Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not.' When Grey wrote the Elegy, in a country churchyard; when Shakespeare wrote, 'Upon thy cheek I lay this zealous kiss, as seal to the indenture of my love;' when that great kind loving man Lincoln poured out his heart and soul for humanity; when Will Rogers, in every little act and word laid his loving heart bare to his people, the kindness and love and friendship made them immortal.

Will Rogers was as kind as Lincoln, as true as Washington, as philosophical as Franklin. His love was not a tiny trickle to run in stops and starts. It was a flood that made itself manifest to all and filled all hearts; when Will Rogers passed the sunshine was a little less bright, the wind just a little fiercer, the clouds a mite less fleecy and the hearts of the world less joyful.

He was sincere as a child is sincere, and sincerity is the leading trait of true manhood. Shakespeare's words, "His words are bonds, his oaths are oracles; his love sincere; his thoughts immaculate; his tears, pure messengers sent from his heart; his heart as far from fraud as heaven from earth," might well have been spoken of him.

The associate of princes and potentates, he loved to mingle with the people close to the soil. He would neglect a millionaire to meet a cowboy, leave a politician to help a chorus girl; ride through the purple sage on his bronc in preference to the gaudy trapping of the most famous horse show.

He hated pretense and pretenders. "Side," "Front," "Bunk," meant nothing to this homespun humorist. He laughed at himself and laughed at the world. The stuffed shirt strutters never deceived him for an instant. He was the one REAL creature in the present age of pretense and tinsel.

Associating and mingled with all kinds of people, he passed through the crowd with no stain on his soul, and went to his end a pure, clean, sweet gentleman.

I am glad today to say a few unneeded words at this gathering, but after all that has been said and all been done, he will be remembered not because of monuments, or printed page, but because he lived a life of true, modest manhood. He lived in an age of pretense and emerged true; he rubbed shoulders with gilt and tinsel but his words and acts were pure gold; he had sorrows but bore them manfully and secretly; he was betrayed but voiced no complaint. He died on a journey of high adventure, seeking with inimitable courage the distant parts of the earth.

Anything we do to show our appreciation of this rough hewn son of the soil, anything we may say in his praise is re-echoed in the hearts of millions.

Will Rogers not only loved all mankind, Will Rogers not only loved all folks, rich and poor, high and lowly, ignorant or learned, but the wise men of the earth recoiled in amazement at unanimous the love and esteem with which he was held, and which was shown at his passing. He was the best loved man in the whole world.

May God Rest His Soul.

Paper Paid
For By Sale
Of Gophers

Taking the Santa Ana Register has become a habit with H. L. Ebel, Mitchell street, Tustin. For 20 years he has opened and read this paper each evening, beginning at an early age when a young boy and when he earned the money to pay for his subscription by catching gophers at two cents apiece. For six years before that time he took the Blade, later the Register.

Ebel states that when he was a boy his people took a German paper but as he was attending the Tustin Grammar school he wanted to read a paper which would give him the news of the community in which he lived.

Gopher trapping furnished a means of making a tidy sum of money each month for any boy who engaged in it as gophers were many in number and their raids on gardens and alfalfa fields made them an agricultural menace which ranchers were trying to eliminate.

Box and steel traps were used alternately as the gophers were wise little creatures and would recognize a trap if the same kind was used too often. Ebel has lived on the same ranch on Mitchell street for the past 23 years, where the gophers have largely disappeared.

COL. TIM M'COY
IN "RIDING WILD"
COMING TO STATE

"Riding Wild," which heads the bill at Walker's State theater Friday and Saturday, starring Col. Tim McCoy, is reported by the theater management as being one of the most dramatic and entertaining Western films that has been booked for some time.

This film presents the story of the conflict between the large and small ranchers of the old West, when range wars swept the grazing country with results that seemed to overpower the forces of law and order. Billie Seward has the feminine lead.

Other subjects on the program are a new real: a Billy Symphony in color, "Who Killed Cork Robin," a chapter of "Mystery Mountain" and a comedy, "It Always Happens."

"Black Sheep" with Edmund Lowe and Claire Trevor, and "In Caliente," a musical comedy from Dolores Del Rio, Pat O'Brien, Glenda Farrell and Edward Everett Horton, show for the last times tonight.

STUDENTS AT
WILLARD AID
BOOK PROGRAM

Considerable interest is being shown at the Willard Junior High school in Book Week, now being celebrated, according to Mrs. Mabel Glee, school librarian. "Book Week," she said, presents itself once again, and with it comes our eagerness and enthusiasm for displaying books that have been read and re-read, as well as books that are new. Here at Willard our hall show cases stand out with an unusual appeal for reading to our students. Three of these cases are now displaying books. New books, old books, some published as early as 1430, books on travel, and even books on "math" are the high lights in these cases, bringing us the romance of books by means of appropriate backgrounds and settings, typifying their various subjects and making them very intriguing.

Then in our great store of reading material, the library, are the book jackets of many of our new books, nearly 300 in all, making a very attractive display. Never before have books been so fascinating with their gay colored book jackets and their artistic illustrations. English teachers are adding interest and zest through the making of book covers by the students, using their own originality and working out many very clever designs.

"All of these things are accomplishing the desired results, for through them we find increased interest, and a more natural desire created for reading, thus carrying out the theme for book week which, after all, is our goal—'reading for fun!'"

Luncheon Guests Make Gift Selection for Party Honoree

Pleasant social affairs of the week included a luncheon and surprise gift shower Tuesday afternoon at which Mrs. Joseph Callens, 2350 North Bristol street, complimented Mrs. Fred Goossens of Anaheim.

Flowers in bright colors adorned the tables where luncheon was served, and glowed from vases and baskets arranged about the rooms. Bridge played during the post-luncheon interval resulted in high scores made by Mrs. Elmer Bowers of this city and Mrs. Paul Dominguez of Anaheim, both of whom received prizes. This afforded opportunity for the presentation to Mrs. Goossens, of the many lovely gifts selected for her by hostess and guests.

Mrs. Callens received in addition to her honoree, Mrs. Goossens, Mesdames Elmer Bowers, Frank Seidel, R. Callens, Walter Giesler, E. Fenske and Gus Callens, Santa Ana; Mesdames Adiel Vanderbeke, Victor Peller, Alice Callens, Paul Dominguez, Anaheim; Mrs. Jack Thornberry, Mrs. R. Gardner-Mangold Rites Take Place in Orange Lutheran Church

Jewel tones in flowers and costumes contributed to the beauty of a wedding taking place last night in St. John's Lutheran church of Orange, when Miss Helen A. Mangold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mangold, East Seventeenth street, became the bride of Egon Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gardner of Luckenbach, Tex.

The ceremony took place by candlelight, with the Rev. A. C. Bode officiating. Altar decorations included giant lavender chrysanthemums in two large baskets, while baby mums in pink and lavender were combined with red cockscomb. A background of greenery was provided by palms and ferns.

Miss Clara Fischen, who sang solos, was accompanied at the organ by William Batterman, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

Bridal Party
Mr. Mangold gave his daughter in marriage. The bride wore ivory velvet on train, with a floor length veil, and a gold bracelet which is a treasured keepsake. Her bouquet was of pale pink briarcliff roses and lilies of the valley, showered with shell pink sweet peas. Her sister, Mrs. Victor Caronna of Santa Ana, was matron of honor, gowning in tulip red velvet with which she carried red roses combined with lavender sweet peas and larkspur and tied with orchid ribbon. Miss Clara Ehlen of Orange, maid of honor, wore dragon green velvet, with peach snapdragons, maroon chrysanthemums and Tailsman roses. The junior bridesmaid, Miss Barbara Veeh of Orange, wore a similar costume, with a bouquet which was a miniature duplicate of Miss Ehlen's.

Bridesmaids were Miss Wera Gardner of San Antonio, Tex., Miss Ruth Boose, Santa Ana, and the Misses Billie Muffelman and Norma Muffelman of Orange, gowning in Spanish violet velvet frocks. They carried snapdragons and chrysanthemums with sprays of tulip red cockscomb tied with heavy silk ribbon. The bride's brother, Fred Mangold, was best man, Ushers were Merle Losey of Long Beach, Victor Caronna and William Leonard, Santa Ana; Orville Veeh and Richard Ehlen, Orange. Dickie Runnells of Tustin was ring bearer for the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Mangold was in black silk, and Mrs. John Gardner in green, both with corsage clusters of gardenias.

Reception
The 125 guests invited to the wedding remained for a reception in Walker Memorial hall, where wedding cake and ice cream were served by the Misses Janette Veeh, Lucia Kraft, Clara Muffelman, Serena Muffelman and Mrs. William Morner of Orange. Orchid and white chrysanthemums and tapers were used in decorating. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner left by automobile for a honeymoon trip of unannounced destination. They will make their home at 905 Cherry avenue, Long Beach, in which city the bridegroom is stationed with the crew of the U. S. S. Lexington. Returning from their trip, the newly married couple will entertain as their first houseguests, Mr. Gardner's mother and sister, Mrs. Gardner and Miss Wera Gardner, who will return soon to their home in Texas after a visit here. They have been guests in the Mangold home for the past several days.

The bride is a graduate of Tustin Union High school and of Orange County Business college. The bridegroom had his schooling in Texas.

Cole Home is Scene of Bridge Club Play

Hospitality of Mrs. Clifford Cole was enjoyed by members of her bridge club who met Tuesday evening at the Cole home, 1314 North Bristol street.

Prizes for high and low scores were won by Mrs. Willard Swarthout and Mrs. Clyde Patton. Following the game, the hostess served a delicious Spanish supper at the long dining room table effectively decorated with flowers of the season.

Guests included Mesdames James Dickson, Oscar Carothers, Harold Carnahan, Willard Swarthout, Clyde Patton, Ira Mercer and Raymond Marsile.

Marguerite Harrison To Address Ebell Monday

Ebell society's interest in Marguerite Harrison, who will be speaker Monday at 2 p. m. in the clubhouse, continues to heighten, as many of the members have read her book, "There's Always Tomorrow." Reviews of the book have appeared in many publications, including recent editions of Time and of Saturday Review of Literature.

MISS HARRISON

Monday will bring also the annual founders' day observance, which will include a social hour following the program. Tea will be served under direction of the hospitality committee, of which Mrs. C. S. Kendall and Mrs. Earl Morrow are chairman and vice-chairman, respectively.

Some idea of the thrilling experience awaiting club members when Mrs. Harrison gives her address, was expressed by Mrs. Jack Valley in her recent program for the group. She gave highlights in the exciting career of Mrs. Harrison, and reviewed briefly, "There's Always Tomorrow." Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth, program chairman, today revealed completed plans for the meeting. It was pointed out that Mrs. Harrison is a founder of the Society of Women Geographers, with headquarters in Washington. She took special courses at Radcliffe college, and has lectured before many prominent groups including Radcliffe and Smith alumnae, Women's University club, of Washington, D. C., Johns Hopkins Medical school, American Academy of Sciences, and American Museum of Natural History, New York.

Author's Life Story
"There's Always Tomorrow" is the story of the checkered life of its author, from Baltimore debutante to spy. The Farrar and Rinehart announcement in regard to the book states, "One of the most exciting life stories ever told by an American woman. She understands her own country, and having traveled over most of the world, and studied its people from politicians and statesmen to sheikhs in the Persian desert, she gives a picture of both hemispheres that is wise, absorbing and constantly illuminated by stories of her own adventures." As a girl in Baltimore, as in the London of Queen Victoria, as a reporter and critic on the Baltimore Sun, European newspaper correspondent, Secret Service operative, and a member of the expedition in Persia that made the famous motion picture "Grass," her career has been a kaleidoscopic one.

Announcements

Evening Bridge Clubs Hold Meetings This Week

Tuesday night bridge club meetings this week included parties in the homes of Miss Marjorie Berkner, 2341 Riverside Drive and Miss Rose Allen, 1404 French street. Thanksgiving decorative motifs prevailed at both affairs.

Cootie Games
Instead of bridge, Miss Berkner's guests played cootie. Prizes rewarded Mrs. Paul Reynolds and Mrs. Clyde Higgins for high and low scores. Two course refreshments were served buffet style, with guests seated at small tables whose linens and other decorations suggested the approach of the holiday season.

Present were the Misses Alma McClain, Margaret Guard, Florence Turner, Helen Demetriou, Dorothy Dunbar, Rosalind Schilling, Marian Samuelson and Mesdames Allan Carstenson, Paul Reynolds, Clyde Higgins and two guests, Mrs. Woodrow Barnett and Miss Virginia Miller, with the hostess, Miss Berkner.

In Allen Home
Miss Allen's guests spent the evening playing bridge, with the result that prizes for scoring first and second high were won by Mrs. Carl Lacy and Mrs. Robert Quinn. Salad, sandwiches and other dainties were served by candlelight at a large table centered with a silver tray piled high with fruits. Many flowers completed the colorful decorative theme.

Sharing Miss Allen's hospitality were two guests, Mrs. Robert Quinn and Mrs. Frank Gilaab, and members including Mesdames Carl Lacy, Kenneth Hill, Irene Daley and the Misses Barbara Thompson, Cleora Fine, Grace Anderson, Helen Overton, Kathryn Overton, Edna May Helm.

BIDS ON NEW COLLEGE PLANT OPENED DEC. 6

FULLERTON, Nov. 21.—Bids will be opened December 6 for the first unit of the new Fullerton District Junior college plant, a school of commerce building to cost about $115,000.

The plans have been approved and 45 per cent of the money granted by the federal government, while the balance of the funds are on hand.

The building will be constructed with the south end fronting on the driveway into the new campus, an extension of College place, from the Fullerton Union High school plant. It will be of poured reinforced cement, class A construction, and will contain as many as 20 class rooms, with seminar rooms and a small lecture hall seating about 125.

The plans have been prepared by the school under Harry Vaughn, architect employed by the school, and E. A. Ames, plant superintendent.

According to unofficial word received by the office of Ames today, the WPA plans for the $24,000 utility tunnel from the high school to college campus have been approved, and work will start.

Work on the School of Commerce building will start December 15. Bids will be opened at 2 p. m. in the office of the superintendent, Louis Plummer.

This will be a first unit of a junior college plant to be constructed on about 15 acres of land purchased by the board of trustees about a year ago. The property is east of the high school plant and separated by Harvard avenue and a row of homes.

TUFFREE EXHIBITS TRAVEL PICTURES

ORANGE, Nov. 21.—John Tuffree, of Placentia, was the speaker at the Lions club Wednesday telling of a trip to South America. He showed moving pictures of scenes in that country. So beautiful is Buenos Aires, he stated, that New York city, and Los Angeles suffer by comparison as a traveler returns to this country.

Covered wagons of the pioneers of the Argentine are found in replicas in marble on public buildings, the speaker stated. The wagons of South America are mostly two-wheeled affairs, said Tuffree, because a tax is levied by the government on each wheel of a vehicle.

A storm brewing in the jungle and a rare black swan floating on the quiet water were included in the interesting pictures.

Tuffree advised those intending to travel inland in South America to learn to speak Spanish. In the interior mosquitoes are as large as humming birds, he stated.

Gordon X. Richmond gave a report of the Lions council at Costa Mesa this week. Alvin Drumm presided.

THE TINYMITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The old man with the monstrous net said, "You have lots of fun, I'll bet. I've always wished to travel, but I never left this land."
"I am too old to start out, now, so I must stick it out, somehow. To visit real strange places over the country must be grand."
"You're right," said Duncy. "It is rare, beneath the sea and in the air we've met a lot of strange folk. They have always been real kind."
"To circus land we traveled once, and saw a lot of wondrous stunts. Why don't you join me, now? I'm sure the Tines wouldn't mind."

"Oh, thanks! It would be fun, no doubt, but I know that I'd get tired out," the man replied. "I do not have the pep of a young lad."
"I'll be as happy as can be, if you'll come back and visit me, and bring the other Tynmites. To feed you I'll be glad."
"Now, this is where our visit ends. If you don't leave, all of your friends will think that you are lost, so you had best be on your way."
"Call to your mount, and hop aboard." "Come here, you hopper." Duncy roared. Then to the man he said, "You're right, though I would like to stay."

When settled on the hoppers' back, he gave his two wee hands a whack, and then he shouted, "Giddyap," and off he gaily rode.
They hadn't traveled very far until the hopper said, "You are real heavy, now, lad, I'm tired out from such an awful load."
"Well," Duncy said, "Let's change about and see how that plan will work out." He then

RIVER CARRIERS OF AFRICA

In a land where jungles are thick, and the heat is enervating, rivers have been the chief means of transportation. This is French Equatorial Africa, newly organized union of the French colonies of Gabon, Middle Congo, Ubangi-Shari, and Chad. Down such rivers as the Ogooué, of Gabon, as shown on the stamp pictured here, the natives carry the products of the jungle on long log rafts, which also convey the living quarters of the workers.

Gabon was the first French settlement in equatorial Africa. Negroes taken from a slave ship founded it in 1849. In 1872, the French explorer, Savorgnan de Brazza, went up the Ogooué and put the country under French rule. Now, together with its three neighboring colonies, it becomes part of the new French Equatorial Africa, under one governor general, but still ruled by its own local officials.

LAGUNA PLANS FLOAT IN TOURNAMENT AT PASADENA

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 21.—Possibilities of Laguna Beach entering a float in the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena were discussed by the city council last night, members of the council agreeing to support an entry, providing some local civic organization sponsor its construction.

This move was taken because of the large amount of favorable comment created by last year's float, which depicted a marine painting of Laguna's picturesque shore line in flowers. A committee was appointed this week by Mayor Frank Champlin to arouse public interest in the project.

Another matter brought up before the council included the installation of illuminated signs, bearing the words "Laguna Beach," to be placed at the city limits on each side of the city. Councilman L. F. Mallow, Councilman Howard Hiesler and Floyd Case, superintendent of streets, were appointed by Mayor Champlin as a committee to arrange the installation of the signs, so that they may be in operation before the holiday season starts.

No action was taken on a letter received by City Attorney Milburn G. Harvey from Robert Reed, state attorney, regarding the ruling by Attorney General U. S. Webb that Laguna would have to comply with the recently amended motor vehicle act, which requires parallel parking on all state highways.

SOCIETY

Party Hostess Adapts Hawaiian Theme in Clever Manner

It was easy for guests yesterday of Mrs. Walter O. Hill, 1019 Hickory street, to imagine themselves in the Paradise of the Pacific, when they surveyed the table at which they were seated for a salad course as introduction to a contract play of the afternoon.

For they gazed upon a woven grass mat centered with the small "grass hut" of story and song, shaded by coconut palms. Drawn up on the shore of a mimic sea were surfboards and outrigger canoes, and even place cards had their accompanying tiny dolls wearing the grass skirts and leis of the native Hawaiians.

Mrs. Hill's sister, Miss Norma Overton, is now in Hawaii, having come out over a year ago as a dietitian at Queen's hospital, Honolulu. She recently transferred to Mahaloa sanitarium on the island of Kauai, famous as the "Garden Isle" of the group. It has been her pleasure to send many quaint curios and souvenirs to Mrs. Hill, and the latter had these to draw upon in achieving the decorative effect for yesterday's party.

Contract play of the afternoon gave high score and its accompanying reward to Mrs. Henry Williams. Players were members of a "double quartet" of contract enthusiasts who meet semi-monthly. They were, in addition to Mrs. Hill, Mesdames Harold Nelson, Paul Ragan, Hubert B. Nall, E. T. McFadden, John Cannon, James Tucker and Henry Williams.

Earlier Event
In entertaining at luncheon a few days in advance of yesterday's club session, Mrs. Hill applied an autumn theme to which chrysanthemums in vivid hues, lent charm to pottery holders centering each table.

These jewel shades were repeated in place and tally cards and appointments for the afternoon of contract. Mrs. Henry S. Williams assisted the hostess in serving luncheon, collecting bridge scores and similar details of hospitality.

First and second high scores were made by Mrs. Paul Ragan and Mrs. Harold Nelson, who were appropriately rewarded.

Mrs. Hill's guests were Mesdames George Parker, Hubert Nall, Henry Williams, William H. Penn, E. T. McFadden, Harold Nelson, Paul Ragan, Frederick Elliott, Carl Edgar, John Cannon, Charles Givens, Fred Merker, Harold Yost, Richard Couden, Jack Bascom and Bruce Monroe.

Hermosa O. E. S.
With a flower ceremony of touching beauty, Mrs. J. P. Jacoby and Dr. Cassius Paul concluded their terms as worthy matron and patron of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S., at the meeting of the order Monday night in Masonic temple.

In thanking officers for their cooperation during the year, Mrs. Jacoby stepped down from the East, and as she acknowledged the work of each of the star points, that officer stepped forward to place the flower represented by her office in a lady daisy. When the old-fashioned nosegay was completed, Mrs. Benjamin Liversay sang "In the Garden of Tomorrow" and Mrs. Jacoby presented the bouquet to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Marshall, special guests from Odon, Ind.

Lights were dimmed at the close of the ceremony and a bright star appeared over the officer's dais to glow while the chapter organist, Miss Maryne Havens, softly played "Star of the East."

Open installation will be held December 2 at 8:30 p. m. Miss Henrietta Bohling and Wilford Lewis will become worthy matron and patron.

Degrees were conferred upon Mesdames Fred Perryman, James Watkins, Harry Fink, Ray Echols, J. F. McWilliams and received into the group by affiliation were Mrs. A. J. Stark and Helen Smith Mabe.

Dr. Cassius Paul greeted the initiates in a brief address to which response was offered by Mrs. R. H. Drake.

Escorted to the East were Dolly Dimmitt and T. S. Hunter, worthy matron and patron of the Santa Ana chapter; Anna Shaw and Gladys Welton, matrons of Fullerton chapters.

Approximately 225 were seated in the main dining room for the dinner which preceded the meeting. Guests of honor were 28 new members who were accorded a special table decorated with rainbows, with bougainvillee for favors and receipt cases for place cards.

Committee in charge of the dinner included Mesdames J. W. Hancock, Edith Wass, W. H. Thomas, Emma Wassum, Stanza Penn, Anna Ashford, A. H. Gritton, Alice Strassburger, Anne Marshall, Emma Vance, C. H. Mitchell, Anne Taylor and Dr. L. L. Whitson. Chairman of the committee on tables was Mrs. Leslie Pearson, assisted by Mesdames Ray Taylor, Charles Coleman, Fred Pope and Miss Alice Pannell.

Calumpit Auxiliary

Holiday plans were outlined by members of Calumpit auxiliary, U. S. W. V., when they met Tuesday evening in K. of C. hall under leadership of their president, Mrs. Celia Cook.

Announcement was made that camp and auxiliary will assist in Santa Ana's big Christmas celebration December 3.

Mrs. Elizabeth Erickson and Mrs. Hazel Hall were appointed to attend veterans' welfare meeting December 2 at 7:30 p. m. in Fullerton Legion hall.

Sewing circle members outlined plans to meet Wednesday, December 11, in the home of Mrs. Odella Markwalder, 926 West Chestnut street. At this time donations of jelly and jam will be asked to be taken to Sawtelle hospital.

Mrs. Hattie J. Williams' application for transfer from Pocatello, Idaho, to the local auxiliary was received. Huntington Park camp and auxiliary extended Calumpit groups an invitation to a chicken dinner December 13.

Mesdames Anna Patmor, K. M. Sturtevant, Zora Area and Celia Cook were named on the committee for a covered-dish dinner to be served next Tuesday at 5:30 p. m. in the hall.

AGRICULTURAL ACT LEGALITY OPPOSED
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(UP)—John W. Davis, American Liberty League lawyer and 1924 Democratic presidential candidate, and former Governor Nathan L. Miller of New York today entered the supreme court fight challenging constitutionality of the agricultural adjustment act.

The two famous lawyers and William R. Perkins, filed a petition asking permission to intervene in the Hoosier Mills case, involving the validity of the Original AAA taxes, as counsel for three nationally known corporations. Their clients are the Hy-Grade Food Products corporation, the National Biscuit Co., and P. Lorillard Co.

Chicago Board of Trade
CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Wheat futures on the board of trade today moved up more than 2 cents a bushel to within a fraction of that mark. Eye sported more than a cent a bushel, while corn and oats were narrowly mixed.

At the close the major grain was 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents a bushel higher, oats were 1/4 cent lower to 1/2 cent higher, and rye was 1/4 to 1/2 cent higher.

Surprising strength in foreign and northwestern markets, unfavorable crop reports from the Argentine and the reported sale of 60,000 bushels of wheat in the local market brought general demand. Offerings dwindled.

Corn firm early, but sold off on reports of clearing weather and fear of increased receipts. Rye was strong throughout, while oats were dull.

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT WOULD HELP OUR ECONOMY; NOT PREVENT IT

We read with interest the special pleading that was prepared for the board of supervisors as a defense for their action in voting to submit a proposition of nearly three million dollars more for flood control than are needed.

We believe that the public interest demands that we should point out certain discrepancies in that statement, with which we may be a little more familiar than those who have not addressed themselves to the subject.

First, these men suggest, as a reason for not reducing the amount, that they had made certain agreements with the government, as though they had entered into an agreement that would forbid the reduction in the bonds by reason of a reduction in the cost of the right of ways.

This is positively and completely in error. It is very difficult to contemplate these statements and harmonize them with the theory of openness and frankness.

The only interest that the Federal government has, in that particular feature of the enterprise, is that the local people must supply the place for the dam and a reasonable amount of land for the overflow.

Their interest ceases in that part of it when this is done. It is worse than absurd to suggest that there has been any promise or agreement entered into with the Federal government, that the county must ask the people for twice as much money as they need for a purpose, which the government only insists shall be fulfilled and does not lay down any methods or amounts to be undertaken in its fulfillment.

Second, the suggestion that any portion of this could not be saved and thereby changed, without the loss of the Federal money, is positively wrong.

Those who are exceedingly familiar with the whole transaction, who are mainly the instruments in our being able to get it, and who represent the administration in a very real sense here in Southern California, and one of whom is at the head of the department to which this money is transferred, gave us positive and complete assurance that any such change and saving to the county could be made and the money for the government's part was already here for it.

The only difference would be a reduction in the amount from the Federal government, in proportion as the amount the Federal government was paying for the enterprise bore to the amount of the reduction.

One of these men is H. H. Cotton, the other is Frank Y. McLaughlin. So the attempt to excuse the refusal by the board of supervisors to reduce the cost of this enterprise, on the ground that the Federal government objected, is positively and unequivocally false.

Later, it probably would be found, if we did not correct this assertion, they would be using the argument, against the national administration, that "it forced communities to do unbusinesslike and unwise things in the expenditure of unnecessary money, in order to get money from the government."

This is untrue and absurd, and it is little short of a slander upon the intelligence of men, in whose hands are placed such funds and whose advice is accepted by the administration.

The third thing, to which we would call attention, is the argument in which the board admits that there is over a million dollars in these bond issues, in excess of any estimated requirements.

But they say: "Vote it over and we promise not to sell the bonds unless we need the money." Then the board cites as an illustration of how they needed money to do certain things that the government couldn't do in the Newport harbor program.

Yes, this is true, but this is all amply provided for in the present program, besides this excess being asked for. Moreover, in the Newport harbor program, we voted only for the actual amount that it was figured would be needed.

We did not vote for $1,650,000 more than our own engineers estimated as the cost. Even in that case, there was $100,000 more voted than was needed.

Voting millions of dollars of money in bonds, without specifying any need for them, urged with the suggestion that we should "trust," certainly would result in the opportunity for that liberality with the people's money, in various directions, that is contrary to good government. It also would open opportunities and temptations, that most trustees are so anxious to avoid that they desire to be limited, both for their own protection, and for notice to be served upon those who have "itching palms," that there is no extra money, not even for added price to contracts or to real estate.

It is too bad that the suggestion of the fifth member of the board, Mr. West, was not accepted and the money saved. In that case, there would be no need of the issuance of this special plea of defense.

The citizens could vote for the bonds, knowing full well that the amount was in harmony with the necessities.

THIS YEAR'S CELEBRATION OF ARMISTICE DAY

The celebration of Armistice day this year has taken on a most decided turn toward peace and moderation. This is manifest in the press news gathered throughout the country. The "screaming eagle" was not heard anywhere in the land. The 100th percent was very modest. The imminence of war in Europe was too serious a matter about which to get patriotic.

The same change is coming over the Legion as came over the Grand Army of the Republic as the Civil war period receded. The fighting spirit is giving way to cool judgment. It was more marked this year than in any previous year.

The memories of the World war and its serious aftermath keep the younger generation from "blowing off its head." This would not be the case were everything going smoothly and prosperously. Those who did not come upon the scene until after the war are being reminded by daily incidents that it was a bad thing for the world and a bad thing for this country. This cools the military ardor.

On the whole, we have reason to be very much encouraged by the turn of events in recent months. Italy and Japan have no supporters among our people. Sabre-rattling is not popular. Mussolini's bluster does not go down with us.

The peace ballots show a remarkable trend away from the military spirit. The military man speaks in low and apologetic tones. Things are on the upward way for peace. In that direction is the hope of the nation and the world.

WHERE WOMEN RULE

Linndale is a suburb of Cleveland, Ohio. For many years after its incorporation, it was run by the garden variety of politicians who are to be found in almost every governmental organization.

The moral well-being of Linndale was subordinated by the real estate speculator and the civic leaders to population growth and tax returns. Questionable policies, like lotteries and other revenue raising schemes, were encouraged because they brought money into town.

A few women put their heads together, and they determined to do something about it. And they did it. Two years ago they elected a woman as mayor. In the last election, she was continued for another two years.

All but one member of the town council is a woman. This matriarchal form of government has been working well, and the men folk appear to be willing to have the women run the town.

Women have been rather slow in assuming official responsibilities since the ballot was given to them. The hoped-for improvement in civic life has not been realized. Things have gone on pretty much as they have always gone.

The women of Linndale are giving a sample of what women can do. The lady mayor is reported as saying that women control about everything except the office of constable, and if he does not do his duty, they will put a woman in his place. Hats off to the women of Linndale!

Exploring the Lusitania

Santa Barbara News
Will the treasure quest of the British salvage ship, Ophir, which seeks to recover some $15,000,000 in gold and jewels from the Lusitania, be successful, and will exploration of the sunken vessel, if made, disclose a cargo of munitions of war intended for the allies? These are interesting queries quickening the imagination of the public, following the remarkable feat of locating of the Lusitania on the bed of the Atlantic, where it was sent during the World war by a U-boat torpedo.

Any disclosure as to a cargo of munitions aboard would be no news to Great Britain and the United States for they already know without exploration what was aboard the Lusitania. If munitions were there, the fact would remain a state secret. Presence of such munitions, in any case, would not relieve the German U-boat commander from academic culpability, for he admitted he did not know the identity of the vessel until hours after he had sent it to the bottom of the sea with hundreds of men, women and children aboard. The controversy, however, recalls a similar argument waged after the blowing up of the U. S. S. Maine in Havana harbor.

The Lusitania disaster sent the United States into the World war, and the blowing up of the Maine was the spark that ignited the Spanish-American conflict. Spain insists no Spanish torpedo wrecked the Maine, and that the explosion was internal and not external. This always will be a controversial matter for the United States not so many years ago towed the Maine out of the harbor of Havana, and sank it in the depths of the Atlantic where no prying eyes will ever know more than now is known about that explosion. Governments do not permit exposure of state secrets, of which their archives are full—and about them grow legends which furnish plots for the weavers of thrilling tales, such as go into the world's "best sellers."

Norris of Nebraska

San Francisco Chronicle
The President, head of the Democratic party, advises the people of Nebraska, including all Democrats in that State, to see that George Norris, Republican, returns to the United States Senate. This is a counsel in which many will join, regardless of party, or even of agreement or lack of agreement with Senator Norris' ideas.
The Chronicle, for example, disagrees heartily with much of Senator Norris' doctrine. But it freely grants his honesty and ability. Such a man is a useful one to have on the other side in a legislative body, in which it is necessary to have the other side represented, and that ably. His strongest opponents in the Senate should be the first to wish to have him continue in his place there.

Senator Norris may be radical but he is no demagogue. If Nebraska wishes to be represented by a really minded Senator, George Norris, sincere and able, is the right man.
What a pity it would be to have Senator Norris retire and be succeeded by some gallery-playing, medicine-dancing demagogue!

A Quick Trial

San Diego Union
Imposition of economic sanctions upon Italy may go down in history as a great experiment, as a great achievement, or as a great failure. Perhaps, because history goes rapidly in this day and age, we shall rather soon have sufficient perspective to history's final verdict, but today we are watching the early developments of a riddle. If the sanctions are imposed firmly and in good faith, Italy will quickly become dependent upon the exports of mercenary "neutrals." If the sanctions fail of quickly—well, soon know whether a formula has failed, or whether the fact has been perpetrated.
Unlike the crusade of 1914-18, this enterprise is watched by many a skilled observer who is not enlisted in it.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE SAND BOX

I have seen the Delectable Mountains;
I have gazed at the desert afar;
I have looked upon shimmering fountains,
And visions of beauty they are.
A world may be built in a sand box,
If one isn't too crabbed and old,
A world that might fit in a band box,
But a wonderful sight to behold,
If only you sit on dream-fashioned shore
And become a Small Person, once more.

But before you may gaze on the treasures
As forth on your journey you wend,
And learn to the full all their pleasures,
You must dwell in the Land of Pretend—
Where one leads mighty armies of vassals
Who raise, at the word of command,
Vast towering sky-scraping castles,
Which often are built out of sand.
Better start on that task at the break of the dawn,
For Tomorrow they all may be gone.

They all may fade out like a bubble,
That glitters and breaks on the strand;
But it won't be so very much trouble
To replace them with fresh ones of sand.
So why not be joyous and cheery?
Life isn't as hard as it seems,
And the sand box will never grow weary
Of supplying more wonderful dreams.
And if you don't quarrel, and don't over eat
All these dreams will forever be sweet.

OUR TWO MAJOR ENEMIES

There are two dragons to which we must play St. George before we can get the nation's enterprise again on a sound basis for the future.

These two dragons are, viz:
(1) The idea of restricting output and raising prices.
(2) The idea of scuttling the future through speculation.

All other dangers to the national future are minor compared with these two.

The business men look critically at the farmer's murder of pigs, his plowing under of cotton and his deliberate withholding of acres from production. The farmers cock a willing ear towards the demagogue who tells them the business men are their enemies. And labor lectures business while it moves a bit restlessly when the AAA jacks up the prices of foodstuffs the workers must buy.

But the fact is that business, agriculture and labor are all three bitten by the bug of restriction as a road to recovery and stabilization.

Until all three realize that this sabotage of our productive genius is suicide we shall linger in a wilderness of quack remedies. As I have said so many times, more goods at lower prices, not fewer goods at higher prices, is the only logical and socially defensible goal of this power age.

Then, too, we must set our faces like flint against the devil of speculation. In speculation, what we try to do is to get the profits of the future to spend now. It can't be done. That is it can't be done without landing us again in a collapse.

The sooner we get down to the bedrock of truth that we should look for profit in the full use of our productive capacity in the present the better.

PREVENTING SICKNESS

This is handkerchief weather. The sharp tang of frost is in the air. The fall wind blows briskly in the faces of the children. Dust is riding high far and wide. This means sniffles and sneezes, and sniffles and sneezes mean handkerchiefs.

At last we have paper handkerchiefs, lovely soft things, so cheap anybody can have them, for children's use. The shops offer these in quantities and at prices that make them practical for everyday service. One tissue square should be placed in every pocket as the child starts for school. He should be instructed to use these should he sneeze or sniffle. If this is done we will have fewer colds, coughs and allied illness.

The children are to be trained to drop the used tissue in the container provided for that purpose in the home and school. It is important that this rule be strictly obeyed and the end will be worse than the beginning. If children use their tissues on the streets and grounds, the streets, playgrounds and classrooms gain nothing. If they put them in the container from which they are taken and burned, we shall gain much.

The cotton and linen handkerchiefs cost something. They get very dirty, and their use is less than helpful. They are frequently lost. They have to be laundered. All this makes it difficult to keep the children supplied with them. The tissue handkerchief is cheap enough to be destroyed after use. It cannot be used often enough to make its condition harmful. It is a real blessing to school children.

Parent - Teacher Associations might lay in a supply of these tissues so the teachers could distribute them to children in need of them. They could interest the Boards of Education in supplying them in quantity to the school. I don't sell tissues so I have no interest beyond the great one of helping school children to preserve their health in a season that usually takes heavy toll of it.

The schools lose money every time a pupil or teacher is absent. Time is lost, work left undone, progress checked. Time is never made up once it is lost. The work may be made up somehow, but the loss remains. Sickness, most of it caused by colds, infections carried by the way of the mouth and nose, cause heavy losses to pupils and school boards. If this loss can be cut to any extent by the use of so simple and cheap a scheme as a supply of tissue handkerchiefs, it is a good investment.

The beginners are the worst sufferers. They are susceptible to childhood's diseases because their bodies are not seasoned to resist infection. I have seen whole classes of beginners affected by whooping cough. The child who has it coughs, a slight hard cough that might mean a head cold, a bronchial affection. He sprays the room with his cough because he has no handkerchief. The others in the class take whooping cough with disastrous results to themselves and to their term's work.

Tissue handkerchiefs might help. Cleaner toilets, fresher air, properly heated rooms, careful attention to diet and elimination, will help still more. This is the mothers' problem as much as it is the teachers'.
